EIGHT BURN TO DEATH IN HOME

Four Girls and Four Boys in Quebec Family Perish in Flames.

WIFE AND MOTHER LATER SUCCUMBS

Victims, All Under 16 Years of Age, Cut Off in Upper Story of House.

Quebec, Sept. 26.—Eight children, of Ulric Trudel, all under sixteen years of age, were burned to death early today as they slept in their home on St. Francois street.

Trudel, his wife, the oldest son, Antoine, and one daughter were the only members of the family left alive by the fire.

All of them were badly burned and the injuries of Mrs. Trudel were so serious that she died later at a hospital to which she, with other survivors, were removed.

The house was a three story wooden structure. The Trudels owned it, but rented rooms to five other families. The family lived on the top floor and their escape was cut off.

The father and mother dropped Antoine from a window and he was severely hurt by the fall. A neighbor rescued a baby girl. Mrs. Trudel was carried out by firemen.

The children who lost their lives were four daughters and four sons, the youngest two years old.

GIRL IN PLEA TO THE PRESIDENT

Would Give Santa Claus of Poor Children Free Use of the Mails.

MARSHALL FAVORS IT

Washington, Sept. 26.—Let the Santa Claus of poor children, those of the tenements who are likely to be overlooked because they live so crowded together, be given free use of the United States mails. This was the plea made to President Wilson by Miss Olive May Wilson, of Jenkintown, Pa., who is here to see if some way cannot be found to waive postage on Christmas presents mailed to poor children.

Filled with the enthusiasm of the cause, Miss Wilson, a young Miss seventeen years of age, marched boldly into the presence of the head of the nation and made her plea. She asked his aid in securing legislation which would allow her "Santa Claus mail," as she calls it, to go free.

She was able to show him a letter she had secured from Vice President Marshall in which the latter had said that he hoped congress would make possible free distribution through the mails of Christmas presents to poor children.

The president encouraged the young Miss, saying he would help her.

WASP'S STING FATAL TO TITLED ENGLISHWOMAN.

Trewarthenic, Cornwall, Eng., Sept. 26.—The sting of a wasp today killed Lady Molesworth, formerly Miss Jane C. Frost, second daughter of Brig.-Gen. D. M. Frost, U. S. A., of St. Louis. She was married in 1875 to the late Sir Lewis William Molesworth, who died in 1912. The wasp stung Lady Molesworth in the jugular vein and she passed away within twenty minutes.

ASKED HIM TO DENY A GIFT

Mr. Peck on Witness Stand Relates Queer Request by Gov. Sulzer.

WANTED AFFAIR HELD PERSONAL

Morgenthau Says Governor Requested Him to "Be Easy on Him."

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Duncan W. Peck, state superintendent of public works, testified at Governor Sulzer's impeachment trial this afternoon that the governor had asked him to deny under oath that he had made a $500 contribution to Sulzer.

Peck said he had made the contribution shortly after the governor's election and that last July he had shown Mr. Sulzer in the executive chamber a copy of a letter from the Frawley committee asking him to testify.

HENRY W. MORGENTHAU, Who Says Sulzer Asked Him to "Be Easy on Him."

"I said to the governor," said Mr. Peck, 'What shall I do about it?'

"He said, 'Do as I am going to do; deny it.'

"I said, 'but I shall be placed under oath.'

"He said, 'forget it.'"

After this declaration there was a hurried conference of Governor Sulzer's counsel. Harvey D. Hinman took up the cross-examination.

Mr. Peck said there were several persons about when he gave the $500 contribution to Sulzer. He said he had given the conversation which took place in the executive chamber "word for word."

"I could not be mistaken about a single word," he said.

There was no more questioning.

At the outset of his examination Peck told of handing Sulzer the $500 at a democratic reform meeting in Troy, N. Y.

"I said to him there were no strings on it and that he needn't feel under obligation to reappoint me," he testified.

WANTED HIM TO "BE EASY."

Morgenthau Says Governor Made This Request of Him.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Governor Sulzer asked Henry L. Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey, to "be easy with him" in case he was called to the witness stand at the governor's impeachment trial.

Mr. Morgenthau, who contributed $1,000 to the governor's campaign fund, so testified when recalled as a witness today.

He added that the governor had asked him to treat the relations between them as a "personal affair."

Crowds Flock to Capitol.

Crowds flocked to the capitol today to listen to the testimony of two witnesses long sought by the board of managers. They were Louis Sarecky and Frederick Colwell. Sarecky, who formerly was the governor's campaign secretary, was served with a subpoena yesterday and promised that he would be on hand this morning. In his capacity as secretary he handled much of the money contributed for the governor's campaign.

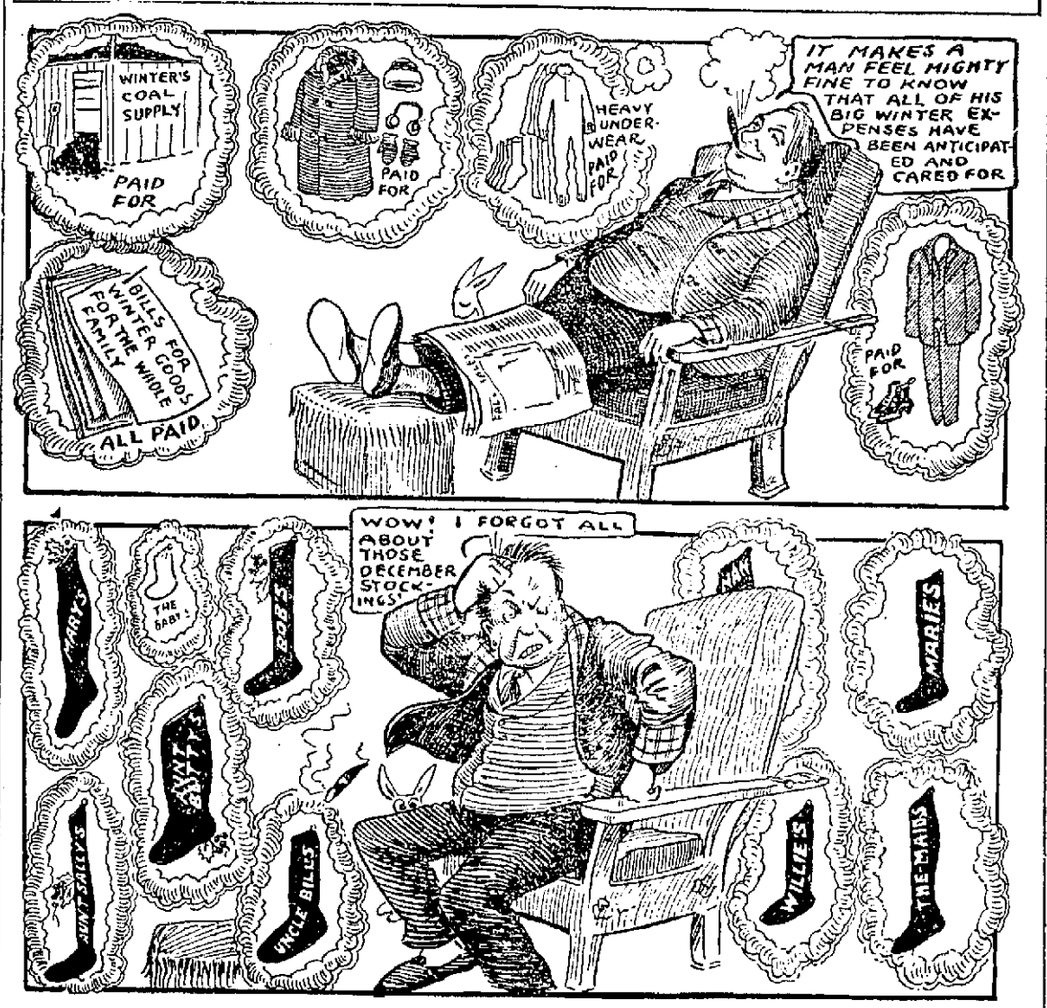
The Oversight



STILL WRESTLING WITH THE TARIFF

Disputed Points Continue to Engage Efforts of the Conferees.

MUST NOW GO OVER

Washington, Sept. 26.—Another day's work on disputed points between the senate and house on the Underwood-Simmons bill brought the conferees together today with the hope that a report might be finished for presentation to the house tomorrow. The parliamentary rule which requires such a report to lay over a day puts the finishing touches of the tariff bill over to next week.

Disagreements on the time when free raw wool and the new woolen rates shall become effective and differences over the rates on cotton yarns and cloth, lead and zinc ores were up today for settlement. It was definitely understood that a complete disagreement would be reported on the much discussed cotton futures tax.

Making allowances for the technical maneuvers which always attend the last moments of a tariff bill, leaders thought the new law might be signed by President Wilson about the middle of next week.

Chairman Simmons had a brief conference with President Wilson before going to the capitol. He said that in an effort to arrive at an understanding on zinc, lead and a date for the woolen schedule to go into effect he had sought suggestions from the president. The senator declined to reveal what suggestions the president had made, but intimated that he would lay them before the conferees.

GRIEF OVER WRECK KILLS ENGINEER

Doherty, Who Was in Stamford Smash, Yields to Heart Failure.

SAW DREAD PICTURE

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 26.—Charles Doherty, engineer of the second section of the Springfield express on the New Haven railroad which ran into the first section at Stamford last June, causing six deaths, died of heart failure at his home here early today.

He had grieved constantly over the wreck and this is believed to have caused his death. He was 31 years old and leaves a wife and two small children.

Ever since the accident Doherty had suffered from nervousness, his relatives say and that many times had told them there was constantly recurring to him the picture of a wreck victim—a woman whose gray hair was matted with blood. He was so averse to being alone that he frequently kept his young sons, four and five years old, respectively, up until midnight for company. He had been working in this city since the wreck as a stationary engineer for a local contractor, but had been compelled to lay off for days at times because of his nervous condition.

FIRST STEP IN WAR ON FLOOD

Board of Works Starts Measures to Acquire the River Banks.

TO BUILD DIKES AND ROADWAYS

Resolution Based on Law That Permits City to Condemn Land.

The first step by measures of law to carry out a program of flood prevention in Fort Wayne was taken last night by the board of public works in a resolution instructing the city engineer to prepare plans for driveways along the river frontages in Fort Wayne.

The action contemplated by the resolution is based on an Indiana statute that empowers cities to condemn and purchase land on river fronts for the construction of levees and dikes and to build roadways and dikes upon.

At a joint conference of the board of works, the board of park commissioners and the council committee on parks and the council special committee on flood prevention, held early last month, it was decided that the measures now inaugurated should be taken. The action of the board of works is in pursuance of the conclusions reached by the joint conference.

The resolution calling for the preparation of plans will open the way to condemnation suits for the acquisition of lands not now owned by the city and that cannot be purchased or secured by donation. The legal status of the project will then be brought forward for determination and the question of municipal ownership of the river banks settled one way or the other.

The steps just taken will, if carried to conclusion, go far to solve the problem of flood prevention, will without additional cost afford the city river roadways and drives and place under the municipal authority full control of the streams in and through the city, permitting them to be dredged and kept free of obstruction and their banks free from refuse and buildings. Most important is that it will empower the city to prevent further encroachment upon the courses of the rivers.

2,000,000 FROZEN LADYBUGS COME TO LIFE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—About 2,000,000 ladybugs are flying around Chicago today through the carelessness of an employe of the International Refrigeration exposition at the stock yards amphitheater. The frozen insects were packed in an ice-bound case with a glass top. When an attendant filled the refrigerator, he forgot to close it and before long the bugs were revived by the warm air and flew away. The ladybugs were shipped from California, where they are used to fight the fruit scale. Between seasons they are put on ice and frozen. The management ordered another shipment at the cost of several thousand dollars.

MORE BANKERS IN WITH A PROTEST

New England Financiers Do Not Like Currency Measure.

LIST OF GRIEVANCES

Washington, Sept. 26.—New England bankers today discussed the administration currency bill before the senate banking committee. Generally they disagreed with its provisions and suggested vital changes. The committee was headed by Charles Blinn, vice president of the National Union bank, of Boston, and included Justice E. Varney, vice president of the Bay State bank, of Lawrence, Mass; President Bowman, of the Springfield National bank, and President Drury, of the Merchants' National bank, of Worcester.

Mr. Blinn said that as president of the Massachusetts Bankers' association he was opposed to the bill. He added that correspondence with banks in New England showed a general opposition and presented figures intended to show that the regional reserve banks would cause a temporary contraction of credit.

D. A. Drew, of Worcester, Mass., spoke for the country bankers of New England. He said that while the small banks were in favor of some provisions of the bill, they believed its demands too heavy upon them. Unless some of those were made easier, he said, country banks in Massachusetts would find it to their advantage to surrender national charters and stay out of the system. The principal objection, he said, was that country bankers believed the system would take away from themselves the control of part of their capital and would place it in the hands of a "politically controlled board."

LEE FORTUNE HAS DWINDLED

BARELY MEETS DEBTS

Chicago, Sept. 26.—In the probate court today it was stated that the estate of the late negro publisher, W. H. Lee, who lived his business life as a white man, originally estimated at $200,000, has a present value of not more than $10,000 and that this sum probably will be used in payment of his debts. D. A. Clithero, Lee's friend and legal counsel, admitted that his late client had negro blood in his veins and said he concealed the fact as it would hurt the sale of his books in certain sections of the south.

The hearing today was in connection with the petition of Mrs. Lucinda Anderson, colored, to have the body exhumed. She thinks that Lee was her husband, who deserted her twenty years ago. She was unable to explain to the court how she would be able to identify the body. Clithero testified Lee told him he never married because of the Ethiopian strain in his blood.

PENNSY SELLS COAL STOCKS

Big Rail System Will Get Out of Anthracite Mining Business.

BREAKING UP ITS OLD AFFILIATIONS

Seeks to Avoid Conflict With Hepburn Act Commodities Clause.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—President McRea, of the Pennsylvania railroad, announced today that the board of directors of the company had decided to sell its security holdings in the anthracite coal companies which have been attached to its system for nearly forty years. The Susquehanna Coal company is the principal operating company and selling agency for these companies.

The announcement that the corporation intended to sell its anthracite holdings was wholly unexpected and all efforts to get an explanation from the company were futile. Neither could it be learned who the purchasers are.

The Pennsylvania railroad through the Susquehanna Coal company and affiliated companies produced and shipped approximately 10 per cent of the hard coal mined. The company owned or controlled 17,000 acres of anthracite coal land.

After the announcement a report spread that the Pennsylvania railroad was getting rid of its hard coal holdings in order not to come in conflict with the commodities clause of the Hepburn railroad act, which prohibits a railroad from transporting in interstate commerce any article or commodity manufactured or mined by it or under its authority. No one at the company's general offices would discuss the report.

The Pennsylvania railroad also owns a controlling interest in the Cambria Steel company amounting to about $22,000,000. For several days there has been a current report that the company will soon or has entered into negotiations for the sale of this stock, but like the proposed anthracite sale, the officers of the company are silent when approached on the subject.

VIEWED AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The department of justice had on hand an active campaign to dissociate the so-called hard coal railroads from their coal properties. Suits already are pending against the Reading and the Lackawanna under the anti-trust law. The application of the commodities clause of the interstate commerce act to the Erie and the Lehigh Valley has been under consideration. So far there has been no movement against the Pennsylvania, but officials regard President McRea's announcement the beginning of an effort on the part of the railroad to put itself in harmony with the law as interpreted by the department of justice. As compared with other anthracite roads the Pennsylvania railroad's holdings are regarded as small.

Fulton, Mo., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Susan Ross, who has been on trial here for the murder of her husband, J. H. Ross, today was found guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury fixed the penalty at ten years' imprisonment. The case went to the jury yesterday.

Ross was murdered while he slept.

BANDITS WERE TWO MERE BOYS

Precocious Pair Do a Sensational Train Robbery in Alabama.

EXACT AMOUNT OF LOOT IS UNKNOWN

Line Up Train Crew Beside Track and Make Escape Into Swamps.

Cottondale, Ala., Sept. 26.—Two mere boys were the bandits who early this morning rifled the mail car and dynamited the express safe on the Alabama Great Southern train, No. 7, near this place and escaped with booty variously estimated at from a few hundred to fifty thousand dollars.

In the search for the bandits this morning Deputy Sheriff James Bonner, of Birmingham, was shot and killed by a member of another posse from Montgomery, who mistook Bonner for one of the robbers.

How Trick Was Done.

After stopping the train at Bibbville siding at 12:30 a. m., by means of a block danger signal, the young bandits with drawn revolvers forced the engineer, fireman, express messenger and six mail clerks to leave their engine and cars and line up at the side of the track. The robbers then compelled one of the trainmen to detach the engine, express and mail cars, whereupon the bandits boarded the locomotive and with one robber at the throttle drove the front part of the train several miles down the track, where the express car was blown to bits with dynamite and the registered mail pouches were rifled.

Fled Into Swamps.

The robbers then threw open the throttle of the engine, leaped to the ground and escaped with their booty into the swamps, while the runaway engine and express and mail cars dashed on down the track through several towns until the steam in the engine was exhausted and the runaway train came to a stop at Englewood, Ala.

Sheriff McAdoy, with six deputies, Chief of Police Bodeker and several private detectives from Birmingham, as well as a posse of deputies from Montgomery and Tuscaloosa and Bibb counties, are hunting for the bandits in northern Bibb and Tuscaloosa counties.

Bloodhounds in Search.

A special train from Montgomery carried bloodhounds to Tuscaloosa early today and the posse from Birmingham has several bloodhounds scouring the country surrounding the scene of the robbery. Not even an approximate estimate of the amount of booty obtained by the robbers could be obtained here this morning, but it is reported they took a pouch of registered mail and small amounts of money from mail and express cars.

Reports of the robbery received early have contained only meager details of the hold-up, which occurred in a sparsely settled mining section.

Hosey Partisan Garbage Plank is a Stupidity and Product of Crass Ignorance

(By the Non-Partisan City Central Committee.)

To the Voters of the City of Fort Wayne:

The Hosey partisan platform affirms with positiveness that the old garbage plant on North Clinton Street should be enlarged and again enlarged as the "increased size and population" of the city may require. To enlarge the city garbage plant means to expand a failure. It means additions to a system that is primitive, outgrown and abandoned by every progressive and growing city in the country that has undertaken a modern solution of the garbage problem. The garbage plank in the Hosey partisan platform is a piece of stupidity. It is proof of the crass ignorance of the leader of the spoils party and his advisers of the subject of garbage disposal. Men who had studied modern methods of garbage disposal and knew anything about it, would never have written such a plank or proposed such a solution for one of the most serious and vexing of municipal problems in Fort Wayne. Of the several modern methods of disposing of garbage, the system the Hosey party proposes to continue is not one. It has been condemned and abandoned by cities that are moving ahead. It is the most extravagant and inefficient system known. The Fort Wayne plant is one of the first incinerators built in the country. It never has been a success. It is broken down at this time and is giving but half of a service that at its best is not equal to the destruction of 50 per cent. of the daily garbage product in Fort Wayne.

Does Hosey partisan promise of a solution of the garbage problem sound good to you? Does it not prove that there will be no betterment under a Hosey administration? The Non-Partisan platform promises a modern and efficient solution. Think it over.

Burglars

Four sparkling revolvers.

WHEN E. G. Anderson got ready to start for his late-summer vacation at Burt Lake, Mich., he found himself a pretty busy man. Mrs. Anderson went east on the same day for a visit, and Mr. Anderson left the house with her in the middle of the afternoon to assist her in taking a lake Erie train, and then he returned to the store to attend to some matters there before completing his packing at home preparatory to taking a G. R. & I. train for the northern fishing resort that night.

"My son Robert and I were getting ready to take the northbound train for Burt Lake at 1 o'clock," said Mr. Anderson, "and we got to bed early so as to get a little rest. In the meantime, we had shut off the gas and water connections and gotten everything in shape to leave. Well, we got up about midnight, about an hour before our train left, and finished our packing, and in the absence of gas I lighted a lantern and was going from one part of the house to another carrying the lantern, when I heard a rap at the side door.

"'Don't answer it,' said Robert. 'Likely as not it's some bum.'

"But the rap was repeated. 'Who is it?' I asked. 'An officer,' came the answer. 'Well, what do you want?' I asked. 'I want you to open that door,' came the response. I opened it, and was almost knocked off my feet to find myself looking into the muzzles of four sparkling revolvers. Behind each revolver was a policeman, and every one of them looked as scared as I felt. And I guess we were all too much agitated to say anything. In a few seconds, Robert addressed one of the officers and said, 'Why, hello, Bert!' It was Officer Brown, whom Robert happened to know.

"And then came the explanation. They thought we were burglars. It seems that one of the neighbors saw me leave the house with Mrs. Anderson in the afternoon and thought very naturally, that we were going away together. Well, this neighbor awoke about midnight and saw someone in our house prowling about with a lantern. Very naturally, too, this neighbor summoned the police, who captured us in our own house. Everybody enjoyed a good laugh, but I want to say a good word for the neighbor who might have saved us from a heavy loss and also to the policemen who were certainly right there on the job."

BIG RECEPTION FOR ART SMITH

Fort Wayne Aviator is Real Hero Out West in the Black Hills.

WILL FLY AT A FAIR

Art Smith, the young Fort Wayne aviator, is a real hero in the minds of the people in the Black Hills, as he is the first birdman who successfully navigated the air of that part of the country, and was once given a medal there by citizens for having accomplished a wonderful exhibition. He is out in that territory now, and the Deadwood S. D., Pioneer Times reports the reception tendered Smith and his wife as follows:

"Aviator Art Smith, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who bears the distinction of being the first man to successfully navigate an airship in the Black Hills, was an arrival in Deadwood yesterday, accompanied by his wife, whose sensational elopement with the aviator from her home in Fort Wayne to Hillsdale, Mich., gave the young couple wide newspaper notoriety a year ago. It is not surprising that Art Smith used an airship to capture his bride, if he could not have secured her by any other means. She is a most charming young lady, whose winning was worth a thousand times the dangers risked in that perilous flight. Art took advantage of an aviation engagement which he had at Edgemont this week to visit Deadwood and the hosts of friends he has here and Mrs. Smith was delighted with the opportunity to visit the place above all others, where her husband is regarded as a hero of the first magnitude. They will leave for Edgemont on the Burlington, where Art will make flights at the Fall River county fair on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

"An effort, which is being promoted by Secretary Troth, of the Deadwood Business club, is being made to secure the services of Art Smith for the last day of the Lawrence county fair at Spearfish. J. L. Bentley has made arrangements for getting him and his airship from Edgemont to Spearfish Thursday night and a committee will be here from Spearfish to confer with the aviator in regard to the details of the affair."

Woman Steals to Get in Jail and Escape Drudgery.

New York, Sept. 26.—"I stole because I want to go to jail to escape the drudgery of married life. For twenty years I have suffered the abuse of an unfeeling husband. Now his son is following in his footsteps and abuses me openly. There is nothing at home for me but labor and no one appreciates me nor says a kind word."

So said "Jane Doe" in a Brooklyn police court, when she pleaded guilty to a charge of shoplifting. Who she is the police have not yet learned. When told she must go to prison, she said:

"I am glad. I want a long, long rest in prison. Only there can I escape from my servile state."

QUARREL BRINGS DEATH.

Indianapolis Girl Succumbs to Heart Failure After Anger.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Ruth Harper, fourteen years old, died here last night of heart failure after a quarrel with Harry Swift, ten. When the police first were notified of the girl's death the boy told them that he had struck Ruth with a pear, but other children said he had hit her on the head with a stone. An autopsy on the body showed that enlargement of the heart had caused Ruth's death. Swift was questioned by the police, but not arrested.

FAMOUS FLAGS ARE KEPT.

Annapolis Collection Shows Many Emblems of Historic Value.

Washington, Sept. 26.—There are only a few "Old Glories" in the Annapolis collection of 173 historic flags, but each is connected with some incident that gives it the honor of its present position. There is the thirty-one-starred flag that flew as an ensign beside the sunrise flag of Japan when the closely shut doors of that island kingdom were thrown open for American commerce.

The old flag that Lieut. Charles Haywood defended so gallantly in 1847 at San Jose, Lower California, is there to recall the story of how he and his tiny garrison held an old mission house for over three months against an overwhelming Mexican force. Here, too, are a few reminders of history's saddest war—our civil war. Side by side in this one case are draped the ensign of the union man-of-war Kearsarge and the stars and bars of the ensign of the confederate cruiser Albermarle. The most recent addition to the collection is the ensign of the battleship Maine, which was recovered fourteen years after the catastrophe in Havana harbor.

HYGIENIC BABY LIVES HYGIENIC LIFE.

AMELIA KATHRYN HORNER, 15-MONTHS-OLD PRIZE WINNING BABY.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Baby Amelia Kathryn Horner won a prize for beauty and prime condition on a diet of milk and barley water. She was awarded the blue ribbon at the baby show held here recently.

Amelia Kathryn is 15 months old and weighs twenty-three pounds and beyond an occasional brief bout with her digestive apparatus has never been ill.

"Hygienic upbringing did it," explained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Horner. "Not until after she was a year old did she ever taste bread, potatoes are soup. Nothing but milk, barley water or lime water. Every night at 6 o'clock she was put to bed with a bottle of certified milk and left alone in the dark to go to sleep.

"More breadth of diet is permitted now. In addition to the quart of certified milk each day, she has pressed beef juice, clear broth, cooked lettuce, cooked cabbage, boiled carrots occasionally and potatoes. Toast is given her as well."

Amelia Kathryn rarely cries.

NON-PARTISANS ARE CONFIDENT

Committee Meets and Plans for Three Ward Meetings Next Week.

THE POLITICAL GOSSIP

At a meeting of the non-partisan city central committee Thursday evening, in headquarters on East Berry street, arrangements were perfected for a meeting to be held Tuesday night in the Ninth ward, at the corner of St. Mary's avenue and High street. It was also agreed to hold meetings next week in the Seventh and Tenth wards. The Bloomingdale meeting is to be addressed by Judge Sol A. Wood, Arthur W. Parry, Judge John H. Aiken and Charles H. Buck, the non-partisan candidate for mayor.

In discussing the poll being taken by non-partisans, it was said that the Eighth ward had been counted as doubtful, classed as a portion of the city where the majority of voters had not decided whom they were going to support. Precinct committeemen from the Eighth, however, declared that the Eighth ward is not going to support Hosey and that they have every reason to believe that Buck will land a majority of the votes in this part of the city.

Hosey Meeting.

City Chairman Guy Colerick, of the democratic central committee, announces a meeting to be held next Tuesday night at the corner of Washington boulevard and Grand street. The gathering will be addressed by William J. Hosey, Harry H. Hilgeman and Anslom Fuelber.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

LaTourette Speaks from Buggy in Adams Township Precinct.

Standing in a buggy at the corner of Maumee and Grant avenues Thursday evening, William H. LaTourette, republican candidate for mayor, addressed the voters of precinct A, Adams township. He was introduced by Judge Benjamin W. Skelton, and before starting with his official speech, took some time to again declare that he is not working for the interests of William J. Hosey, democratic mayoralty candidate, for the purpose of landing some appointive position after the election.

Mr. LaTourette reviewed the history of the republican party, and added that the G. O. P. in Fort Wayne has won a victory by placing a straight party ticket in the present municipal race. He closed by declaring that if elected mayor, he will be the real head of the city government and will refuse to be ruled by any man or any set of men.

The republicans will meet this evening at the corner of Pontiac and Lafayette streets.

Socialists' Campaign.

Speaking in the Ninth ward Thursday evening, W. Hayes Linville, of Columbia City, expounded the principles of socialism.

"Poverty is the direct result of capitalistic exploitation," he declared. "Ignorance, vice and crime are poverty's legitimate children. To maintain this rule, capital must dominate government and public sentiment, and hence the constant incentive for the ruling classes to corrupt our politics, press, pulpit and schools."

PARDON BOARD TO REPORT.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—The state board of pardons yesterday ended its fall session and in a few days will submit its recommendations to Governor Ralston. A large number of the petitions for clemency were from convicts serving life sentences.

Mrs. Ralph Nalley, 18 years old, with her seven months' old babe in her arms, appealed to the board to free her twenty-year-old husband from the state reformatory. At the time the couple had been married but seven months and since then his wife has earned her living by sewing.

MUNCIE MAN PRESIDENT.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Thomas F. English, Muncie, was elected president of the Indiana Electric Light association in its closing session here yesterday. W. D. Ray, Hammond, was chosen vice president; Thomas Donahue, Lafayette, secretary, and J. C. Kester, Kokomo treasurer. Fred L. Dennes, South Bend, was appointed chairman of the accounting committee.

SAYS CITY MUST AID IN CRUSADE

Would Benefit by Better Farming, Declares Ex-Governor Vessey.

OF FIRST CONCERN

That the city which consumes farm products should be in point of fact vastly more interested in the problem of better farming and increased agricultural production than the farmer himself was the declaration of ex-Governor Robert Vessey, of South Dakota, in an address before the Fort Wayne Commercial club Thursday evening. "The farmer has the first selection from the product of his lands," said Mr. Vessey. "You needn't worry about him; he will get along all right. But the city resident, who must depend upon the products of the farm is the man who should be really concerned in the increased yield and the better production that will result from scientific and intelligent cultivation of Indiana farms."

Ex-Governor Vessey pleaded earnestly for agricultural education in all schools. He declared that the student on leaving school sought a place in the city because his education had given him nothing in the way of equipment for farm work along advanced lines; that it had contributed nothing that would assist him in resuming the work of the farm which he left to attend school. The former South Dakota governor said the issue was no longer "back to the farm," but "forward to the farm." He cited statistics showing that Indiana farms were not yielding anything like the adequate return they could be made to produce by scientific farming and by advanced methods in dairying and stock-raising. Allen county hens, he said, were not producing more than half the eggs consumed each year by the city of Fort Wayne alone. Fruit-raising has deteriorated into a mere side issue instead of the real business it ought to be, he contended.

"We need to get our heads into the game instead of merely our muscles," said Mr. Vessey in discussing ways to increase the yield of Indiana farms, "and the men of the cities—the organizations like this Commercial club of yours—ought to take the lead in the movement. It is as important to you in your city-building as is the new factory or the other factors of growth in Fort Wayne."

B. Paul Mossman presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

STATE HELPS IN BACK TO THE SOIL

Washington Sells Its Citizens Land With Twenty Years to Pay.

MUCH IS EXPECTED

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 26.—This state is getting ready to take advantage of a recently passed bill which will give its poorest citizens a chance to acquire a little farm.

King county will probably be the first in the state to take advantage of the Murphine logged-off land law, passed by the last legislature.

The county commissioners have decided to hold a special election, probably in December, on the question whether a logged-off land district shall be formed.

At the same time three commissioners are to be elected to serve without pay, in case a favorable vote is given by the people for the creation of the district.

The subject of logged-off land development was one of the most important before the last legislature. Several bills were introduced, and finally Representative Murphine, progressive leader of the house, was placed at the head of a committee which drafted a bill that included the best features in all the various propositions.

By the terms of this bill a district is created similar to the port or school district, a distinct governmental agency of its own, with the power to issue twenty-year bonds.

The bill enables settlers already on logged-off lands to develop their lands with great facility, and also gives newcomers a chance to adopt agricultural life without large investments.

Thus it is planned to make thousands and thousands of acres of waste land into profitable agricultural soil.

How the Law Works.

John Smith wants to get back to the simple life. He has been a bookkeeper, or a teamster, or hod carrier.

Smith is not overburdened with money. So he applies to the commissioners of the logged-off land district. Under their direction, the district has acquired a number of tracts.

If Smith is a married man and has a family, he will be given preference over an unmarried man.

The commission will sell him land—the smallest area practicable—on the installment plan. It will charge him the cost of the land and the cost of clearing, with 5 per cent. interest.

He will be given twenty years in which to complete the payments.

The interest charged him is only ½ per cent. more than the district pays on the bonds to carry on the logged-off land improvements. This ½ per cent. will take care of administration costs. The commissioners receive no salary.

Summed up, it means that the district practically loans the money to the settler, which must be repaid in installments for twenty years. Title to the land remains in the district until all the installments are paid up.

Better buy him a pair of Buster Brown Blue Ribbon Shoes. SCROGGY'S.

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

Golden text, Neh. 9:17, "Thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and abundant in loving kindness."

Three months ago we began the "exodus" period of Old Testament history. This is really the beginning of history, so far as it touches the Jewish church. Before the exodus everything centered in the family or tribe. Israel entered Egypt as a family, but went out as a nation. The patriarch had disappeared, and a lawgiver in direct communication with God had taken his place.

But that is history? A record of events, and more. Many regard history as resembling a string of beads. The beads are so many events, moved along one by one as they transpire. But no account is taken of the string. The thing that holds those beads in order and establishes a relation one to the other is forgotten. They occur because something has occurred before, or as in the case of sacred history, is to occur hereafter. There are two ends to every bead string, and much depends upon the end on which we begin to string the beads. Jacob marks an epoch, and so does Moses. Did Moses go out of Egypt because Jacob came in, or did Jacob come in because Moses was to go out?

God Sets Apart Nation to Be Exponent of His Will.

The invasion and the exodus were far apart, but they belonged to the same purpose. The last three months have been practically lost if we have seen events and nothing else. They record a history not of incident so much as of an idea. That idea was God's interest in life. He would set apart a nation, as he had an individual, and make it the exponent of his will. That nation was Israel. But Israel was subject to another power. Pharaoh was its master and had been for centuries. Israel might have remained in Egypt, even as Abraham might have remained in the Chaldees, but God elected to develop his purpose under a different sky. God's approaches are built far in advance. Moses was born eighty years before he was needed, just as Lincoln preceded the civil war by a half-century. Pharaoh sought to frustrate God, but our first lesson, you recall, told us how the child Moses was saved from death. God would protect his purpose by protecting his human instrument.

The child Moses was like other children. There was nothing unnatural about him. He must grow into a fitness for his mission. Every great man once went to school. That school may have been simply life, but it was a school to him. Hence the second lesson gives in vague detail how Moses prepared for his work. The years pass on and this child of destiny has become a resident of Midian. He is not only an exile from his people, but an exile, also, from all possibility of fulfilling God's purpose. But the arm of God is never shortened. It reaches far across the earth and draws every man back to his work. When Rome needed a leader it is said to have found Cincinnatus at the plow, and God called Moses to deliver Israel as he watched his flock on the slopes of Horeb.

Pharaoh's Heart Hardens as Result of His Punishment.

In the following lesson he and his brother Aaron are in Egypt, pleading for the liberty of their countrymen. But the king's heart only grew the harder under their pleadings. Their request was refused, and as a result came the plagues of Egypt. Punishment may break the heart, but it seldom melts it. Pharaoh's penitence was of the enforced kind that fails to change the man. At last death stalked through the streets and lanes of the city, and from every home went up the cry of despair while a nation in sackcloth mourned for its dead.

But the Israelites were strangely preserved. The blood spots upon their doorposts served to turn aside the destroyer. It was the Passover of death, the first of real life. For the upper chamber in far-off Jerusalem was being made ready for that other service which, in the form of the Lord's supper, remains still.

Again the king relented, and this time seemingly to a purpose. The pale, upturned faces of the first born made a plea to which there was no answer. "Go," said Pharaoh unto Moses, "serve Jehovah * * * and bless me also." There was a great commotion throughout Goshen, as the hosts of Israel took up their line of march back to the land from whence their fathers had come centuries before. They reached the borders of the desert and there were once more confronted by the cross purposes of God. Before them lay the Red sea, and hard behind rode the pursuing hosts of Egypt. But Moses was there and the invisible Jehovah stood near by. The lawgiver reached out his rod and the waters parted at his word. Israel passed over in safety, and the Egyptians, following, were drowned. The first triumph had been won and the crossing of the sea lingered long in the songs and memory of the people.

Man's Ways Are Not Always the Ways of God.

Three ways led to Canaan, and the one at the north Moses had determined to follow. "But my ways," said Jehovah, "are not your ways." The pillar of fire moved on toward the south. Hunger followed close behind, until the bread from heaven fell. The Israelites passed the wells of Elim, and on until the cliffs of Horeb came in sight, and encamped at Mount Sinai in the very presence of God. Then followed the giving of the commandments on their two tables, one dedicated to the service of God and the other to man. Sinai proved to be the birthplace of Israel as a nation. There God met the people face to face. Their fall and the golden calf for a time held the center of attention; but the mills of vengeance soon ground the idol to nothing. Israel had the mind of God embedded in stone, which they guarded as an oracle from heaven. It was carried in the ark, together with the rod and the pot of manna, down to the temple; but when the ark was opened, nothing remained but the two tablets, as Moses had placed them at Horeb. Egypt became a name, but the law of Moses has survived the ages.

FRIENDS EXPECTED HER TO DIE.

"I sincerely believe my life was saved in the fall of 1910 by using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. Agnes Booth, Tonawanda, N. Y. "I was taken with diarrhoea followed by an attack of acute indigestion. Power of the pen fails to portray the agonies I endured. My friends expected me to die as I had been unable to get relief for so long a time. This remedy went directly to the seat of the trouble and cured me in a few hours' time." THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Jonah 4:1-11.

1 But it developed Jonah exceedingly and he was very angry.

2 And he prayed unto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore, I fled unto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow, till he might see what would become of the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shadow over his head, to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceedingly glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And it came to pass, when the sun did arise, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sun beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in himself to die, and said, It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God said to Jonah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I do well to be angry, even unto death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pity on the gourd, for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it grow; which came up in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should not I spare Nineveh, that great city, wherein are more than six score thousands persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?

Getting Away from Partisanism

None are so well qualified to speak regarding any proposition as are those who know from personal experience what they are talking about. When the opposition to the non-partisan movement in Fort Wayne seeks to discredit the effort by the charge that the leaders in the movement have heretofore been prominent in local partisan battles, it is simply attesting their high qualification as expert witnesses in the present case in which the voters as a jury will return a verdict at the polls in November.

Unquestionably the most valuable knowledge which we gain is that acquired by experience. The average voter and the average student of municipal economics who has given his chief attention year by year to his own business affairs or to his own calling without close or active identification with political party machinery is convinced of the weakness and the inadequacy of partisan municipal government, but with him the proposition is merely a general one. His experience has not thrown him in close touch with the real inwardness of party deal and party dicker over the administration of city affairs.

But the man who has been on the inside knows. His information is specific. He has seen at close range the evils which the average citizen has viewed in perspective, and he is fortified in his non-partisan faith by his repugnance to old methods which is the result of an intimate knowledge of just what they are. His is not hearsay evidence. He knows what he is talking about when he proclaims his conviction that nothing in the way of better or more efficient government is to be reasonably hoped for so long as we play partisanism in the dispatch of city business.

And let it be remembered that in espousing the non-partisan movement the men who are bearing the brunt of the battle are not seeking personal preferment. They have no personal axe to grind. They are not moved by hope of personal gain. They are giving of their time, their ability and their energy in the effort to aid Fort Wayne to rise about narrow partisanism and carry on its municipal business in a broad and efficient way. Men who have been in politics and men who have been out of it are united in the common purpose. None, however, can know so well the real need for getting away from partisan politics in city affairs as the men whose personal experience has given them a closer view of its evils than has been vouchsafed to the average citizen who has viewed the game from the outside and suffered merely as an innocent bystander.

Still, the Tennessee plan of handling legislative procedure with the assistance of gunmen with formidable pistols concealed upon their persons will hardly become generally popular over the country. It has its drawbacks, however convincing it may be to the statesmen in their efforts to be responsive to the highest interest and best thought of the dear peepul of the grand old commonwealth.

Following the action of Purdue in eliminating the "tank scrap" which cost a South Whitley student's life more than a week ago, Indiana university student body has voted to dispense with the traditional "class scrap." Perhaps this wave of reform will spread until it will become entirely safe to enroll in the student ranks of the higher educational institutions.

Senator Works, of California, is out with another declaration for intervention in Mexico. Perhaps some arrangement could be made to allow Senator Works and the few others who want to intervene to go ahead with the job and cease harassing the rest of us. Then everybody would be satisfied.

Meanwhile, you have one more chance to register for voting at the city election—and the date is Monday, October 6.

THE PRESS DISCUSSES RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

"Steel Cars."

Baltimore American: "Steel cars are among the new fall fashions for railroads. They are expected to be much more popular among the traveling public than funerals, of which the said public is becoming tired."

"Cars of Future."

Philadelphia Press: "The steel car, or a car with a steel frame that will sustain without breaking the whole force of a collision, are the passenger cars of the future. Their much greater safety has been amply demonstrated."

"The New Haven."

Boston Transcript: Unquestionably the New Haven is suffering from a complication of diseases, but a surgeon never operates on a patient who is in the throes of typhoid fever."

"The Pennsylvania."

Pittsburg Dispatch: "The inauguration by the Pennsylvania railroad of special measures to avert a car shortage indicates that this railroad's fear is not of business prostration."

"Reason Limits."

Philadelphia Bulletin: "Competition in railroad service is a good thing, but it goes beyond reasonable or desirable limits when it puts the lives of passengers and train crews in jeopardy in mad racing."

"Save Hundreds."

Philadelphia Inquirer: "Absolute safety is unattainable in this world, but it is in the power of human minds to reduce the factor of danger to the lowest possible size. Steel cars have already saved hundreds of lives, and we doubt not that a dozen years hence no others will be seen save on little roads which run trains at a slow gait."

"Millstones."

Chicago Inter Ocean: "For some time the railroads have been between the upper and nether millstones. They have one thing to sell and one thing only. That one thing is transportation. And for that transportation they can charge only one price."

THE PACKERS AND THE FARMERS.

(New York World.)

In sounding once more the alarm over the growing shortage of cattle, the meat packers' convention appeals to the small farmers to save the country from threatened famine. "Despite the higher prices," as it says, "for live stock of all kinds, statistics show that the farmers not only are not increasing their production of meat-food animals but that such production is decreasing at an appalling rate."

The big cattle ranches of the west have almost disappeared, the south is wedded to cotton and neglects corn, and the average farmer, especially in the east, looks upon cattle almost altogether from the point of view of milk and butter and quick returns. These conditions are making it more and more difficult every year for the packers to meet the demand for their products which they have so zealously labored to create.

Twenty-five years ago Chicago beef was regarded doubtfully by most housekeepers. Every town and city had its own slaughter house. Local butchers drew upon the surrounding country for their supply of meat-food animals. Now every way station deals with the agent of a packing concern and the local butcher buys dressed beef, not live cattle.

Not only did the refrigerator car and the concentration of business in the packers' hands change the butcher's trade methods; it helped largely to drive the small farmer out of cattle raising. The conditions that the packers now want to see restored among small farmers, they are chiefly responsible for destroying. If the small farmer returns to raising more animals for food, it will not be from a sense of patriotic duty, in answer to the beef trust's invitation, but solely under the attraction of high prices and handsome profits.

THE GREAT MORAL VICTORY.

(Kansas City Times.)

The big thing achieved by the tariff revision now almost completed is the moral victory. It ought to work to the consumer's advantage in the improved quality of goods, and perhaps in some instances in a reduction in price. The man of small means, for instance, should be able to buy woolen clothing for his family where he has been buying shoddy.

But the great gain has been in the field of morals. Up to this time the tariff has been revised in the interest of a few men with a pull. This time it has been revised in the interest of the whole people. The difference is the difference between anti-social legislation and social legislation, between immoral action and righteous action.

It is immoral for a government to tax the whole people for the benefit of a favored few. A government founded on special privileges cannot endure. It is a splendid triumph for democracy when one of the traditional strongholds of privilege is at last captured. Such a triumph is more important in itself and in its indirect effects than in the immediate practical consequences of the victory.

DANCES ENDANGER WOMEN.

Princess Declares Terpsichorean Art in America Is Disgraceful.

New York, Sept. 26.—Before the steamship Olympic left Lady Anne Saville, better known as the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheimer, of Paris, characterized the dancing she had seen in this country as disgraceful.

"I never saw such dancing in my life as I have seen in this country," she declared. "It is disgraceful, the manner in which they are dancing here. It is not only vulgar, but it is killing to the girls.

"They are at it day and night, and if they keep up this terrible style of dancing—those new tangoes and such—they will not have any figures. It is destroying their health, and I might say their morals as well.

"If they continue they will be moral and physical wrecks. I can say that I think the popular dances that I have seen are nothing more than a distortion of good taste that will ruin the moral sense. If they keep this up the American girls will fall into ill fame abroad. I think this far-seeing government should have a censor for those dances."

TAKES A RAP AT FRIEDMANN CURE

PREVENTION IS PLEA

West Baden, Ind., Sept. 26.- A rebuke to Dr. Franz Friedmann and his alleged "cure" for tuberculosis, and a plea for more preventive measures in combating "the great white plague" were contained in a report to the Indiana State Medical society, which began its annual meeting here today.

The special committee, which framed the report is composed of Dr. W. T. S. Dodds, of Indianapolis, chairman; Dr. M. C. Hamilton, Kokomo; Dr. L. W. Smith, Wabash, and Dr. W. A. Gekler, superintendent of the State Tuberculosis hospital at Rockville. In part the report reads:

"This highly advertised German tuberculosis "cure" has done more damage and caused more unrest than scientific medicine can quiet in a year. We wish most positively to direct your attention to the fact that your committee has maintained a perfectly dignified and silent contempt for all these reports. We did, however, have occasion to answer numerous inquiries and requests for this "treatment," which we always condemned. We wish to call the attention of this scientific body again to the fact that prevention is the great work we have to do in the question of tuberculosis. We have made no great advances concerning preventive measures in tuberculosis in the past decade. We have, however, been taking care of our incipient tuberculars and permitting the old chronic consumptives free rein to infect the others, consequently we are forced to a realization of the fact that our fight on incipient cases is still on with approximately as many cases to fight as we had ten years ago.

"This fight for the incipient case is good, but we should have with it a compulsory preventative measure limiting the ability of the advanced consumptive to infect his fellowmen.

"In this connection your committee wishes to call the attention of this society to the noble work being done in this state by the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is supported almost entirely through the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. Their work is that of education and it has done much in the past year to bring the public understanding of the scientific position of medicine in its relation to the 'white plague.'

"Your committee has had the pleasure of working harmoniously and satisfactorily with this organization and we wish to extend to it a vote of thanks. We wish also to call your attention to the good work that is being done in this state by all of its charitable societies and clubs, including the Woman's Federation of Clubs, religious societies and charity organizations."

In closing the report the committee urges wide spread education about tuberculosis, makes a plea for county tuberculosis institutions, the immediate increase of preventive measures and demands proper care of the advanced consumptive who is now recognized as a menace to his friends, relatives and all who come in contact with him, unless sanitary precautions are taken.

TOOK JOB FOR $50.

Brooklyn Gunman Gets Wrong Man and is Held on Murder Charge.

New York, Sept. 26.—Two peddlers offered Frank Van Tonio, a Brooklyn gunman, $50 to beat up David Conner, who took their horse by the bridle and amused himself by leading the animal around in circles. Van Tonio accepted and today he was held for the grand jury on a charge of murder. Witnesses testified that he mistook Robert Brady for Conner and shot him dead. The peddlers confessed the bargain with the gunman, but protested that they had no grievance against Brady and no desire to get Conner anything worse than a beating.

NOW IT IS GOING UP, ALSO.

Advance in Sauer Kraut Price Adds to High Cost of Living.

Fremont, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Add to the high cost of living an increase in the price of sauer kraut. Today kraut cabbages reached the unprecedented price of $17 a ton. Kraut makers in this city, which is the center of the American kraut industry, had hard work getting material at that price and several suits have been instituted against growers, who contracted to sell their cabbage at a low figure, and now refuse t deliver at the contract price.

BIG YACHT READY FOR TRIP.

Leiter's Niagara Soon to Start to Encircle Globe.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Preparations are almost completed for the round the world trip on the big yacht Niagara, which Joseph Leiter is planning for a select party of friends of himself and Mrs. Leiter. After leaving here next Wednesday the first stop will be at the Bermudas, where the larders will be replenished for the trip to Gibraltar, the next stop. Ports in Spain, France and Italy will then be touched, the probability being that the Christmas holidays will be spent somewhere along the Italian coast. The Niagara carries a powerful wireless.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this means of expressing our appreciation for the kindness shown us by our friends and neighbors during the illness and at the death of Mrs. Mary V. Mitchell and for their floral offerings and for the kind words spoken by Rev. G. F. Byrer.

LITTLE ITALY IN THE CITY COURT

Partisans in Battery Case Show Ugly Mood and Need Restraint.

ECHO OF AN AFFRAY

The Italian colony on Melita street deserted its quarters today and repaired en masse to the city court. Judge Mungovan's tribunal looked like a celebration of Garibaldi day and at times it threatened to become the scene of serious disturbance. Principals and witnesses in the cases of Joe Colone and Joe Marina, for assault and battery, openly threatened each other and it was necessary for the police officers in court to keep a sharp lookout and to frequently restrain the belligerents.

The cases bark back to July 1st last, when Josie LaRosa, a Sicilian girl, stabbed and dangerously wounded Josephine Sacco, and the LaRosa girl was the star witness in the hearing today.

The testimony showed that Marina had attempted improper liberties with Josie LaRosa and that the fight between Colone and Marina followed Colone's resentment of the insult to the girl, who is his sister-in-law.

It was while the police were making the arrests for the fight that Josie LaRosa rushed upon the Sacco woman with a long dagger and almost ended her life.

Josie LaRosa made a good witness today and under instructions of her attorney avoided questions that affected her own case. Colone repeatedly showed his feelings toward Marina and growled several times at him to "cut it out" when Marina's contemptuous grin or insolent comment became "too strong." Italians in the crowd of spectators shouted at witnesses on the stand and without restraint would have had an uproar. When Josephine Sacco left the witness stand and took a seat beside Josie LaRosa, the little Sicilian girl who had stabbed her drew contemptuously away and took another chair. The feud between the two will not subside if Josie LaRosa has her way.

For two hours the case dragged along, much of the testimony coming through interpreters. Judge Mungovan acquitted both men and Little Italy started home to Melita street for dinner.

CITIZENS LYNCH A NEGRO.

Joe Richardson, Accused of Assault, Is Strung Up at Litchfield, Ky.

Litchfield, Ky., Sept. 26.—A mob of citizens visited the county jail here a bout 1 o'clock this morning, overpowered the jailer, took Joe Richardson, a negro, from his cell and hanged him to a tree in the public square. Richardson was charged with assaulting Ree Goff, eleven years old, as she was on her way to a school in the country near here Tuesday morning. The negro's body was still hanging in the public square early today.

The senate tariff conferees proposed today to drop the cotton future tax from the tariff bill. The house conferees, however, refused to agree to that action on the ground that the house should have the opportunity to vote upon whether the entire provision should be dropped or a new provision accepted.

Efforts to settle the cotton futures tax question during the first session today proved unavailing. Representatives Lever and Page were called into the conference and later the senate members called in Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, author of the cotton tax amendment. The reopening of the cotton trading provision widened the breach between the house and senate over other questions still unsettled. The zinc and lead ores duty raised by the senate furnished the ground for further discussion. Some predicted that none of the important points still at issue would be settled until the cotton futures had been disposed of.

The silk schedule was reopened. To prevent frauds through under valuations, the advalorem system of duty was abandoned on carded silks and silk noils for a specific rate of 20 cents a pound. The duty on hats was also fixed today at the senate rate of 45 per cent. The exemption put into the income tax section to protect the city of New York in collecting its shares of the earning of the new subway brought a protest from Senator Reed, of Missouri. He declared the provision would work to the detriment of the people of Kansas City, who were about to undertake public utility improvements.

RECALL AGAINST A WOMAN.

California County Holding Election to Decide Issue.

Hanford, Cal., Sept. 26.—Kings county is holding today the first recall election in California directed against a woman county official. Mrs. N. E. Davidson, superintendent of schools for eleven years and one of the best known educators in the state, is the official under fire. Thomas Rosaman, a former principal in the Hanford schools, started the recall movement against Mrs. Davidson after his certificate had been revoked by the county board of education as a result of charges of immoral conduct filed against him by Mrs. Davidson.

OFFICER'S SERVANT SLAYS.

Two German Soldiers Killed in Attempting Capture.

Parchim, Germany, Sept. 26.—Two German soldiers were killed and one fatally wounded early today by an army officer's servant. They were attempting to capture him after he had been detected in a robbery. He committed suicide before he could be taken prisoner.

The man, an enlisted soldier, was attached as a "striker" or an orderly to the dragoon regiment stationed here. When he found he had been seen committing theft he fled to an attic of the barracks and was pursued by several of his comrades, led by an officer. He was armed with two ordinance revolvers, with which he shot three men, killing himself with the last cartridge.

Crane, of Chicago, has been prominent among those considered for the St. Petersburg post.

THOMPSON GETS MUCH APPLAUSE

Illinois Man's Action on Oil Land Grab Wins Commendation.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Sept. 26.—Representative Thompson, of Illinois, the man who stirred up the Southern Pacific-California oil lands grab with his resolution a day or so ago, is receiving telegrams and letters from all parts of the country commending his action. Some of them throw considerable additional light on this delayed government suit. A wire from D. J. Hinkley, of Los Angeles, Cal., adds a new feature to the case. Hinkley is one of the prominent attorneys for a group of mineral claimants who filed on the land which is being illegally held by the Southern Pacific. These claimants, on the advice of Hinkley, refused to join with the Burke group of claimants in their suit. The Burke suit, in which, by direction of Assistant Attorney General Knaebel, the government joined, took the weakest possible legal position, contending that patent had passed to the Southern Pacific, instead of contending that the excluding clause prevented the passage of title. Hinkley in is co-operation with Butler, the man who dug up the case originally and who refused to aid in prejudicing the government's case by joining in the Burke suit.

Representative Crosser, of Ohio, is busy doing missionary work on members of the house committee on the District of Columbia, trying to secure action on his resolution calling for municipal ownership of street railways in Washington. Crosser is trying to secure a hearing on his bill, and Representative Ben Johnson, chairman of the committee, is inclined to grant such a hearing. Mr. Crosser also wants the committee to employ the services of an expert in street railway valuation to check up on the watered capitalization of the local street railway companies with a view to putting the real facts in the hands of the committee.

The office of Representative J. W. Bryan, of Washington, looks like the sorting room of a big postoffice. His mail is loaded with hundreds of requests for his recent speech on the Poindexter-Bryan Alaska bill for government operated coal mines, railroads and steamship lines in Alaska. Bryan is now at his home in Seattle, but his faithful secretary is on the job, and in a week or so the mails will carry out hundreds of copies of this speech to those who have requested it.

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have given up as a hopeless job their search for a modern priced house in Washington. There is no such thing as a moderate rental price in Washington for any kind of a house. Nearly every house which the vice president and his wife looked at was priced at from $2,500 to $6,000 a year rental. The vice president refused to go above $2,000 at the outside. He thought he ought to get a decent dwelling at that figure. When Mr. Marshall has lived in Washington a little longer he will know more about the power of the real estate ring here in keeping up land values and rentals.

Now comes a democrat attacking the party caucus. This time it is Representative Walter Elder, of Louisiana, one of the three house democrats who voted against the administration currency bill. "If I judge the times and signs aright," he said, "the day of the party caucus, except on strictly party questions, is about to end. The game as now played by some party leaders is fast and loose. If they see that they have a majority on a particular question or amendment, it is taken into the caucus, and those opposed to it are bound and gagged, delivered body and soul." Mr. Elder said that in future he would reserve the right to attack his party's action on the floor of the house.

DIES AT THE AGE OF 86.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 26.—Henry Mauger, 86 years old, prominent Rock Creek township farmer, is dead at his home near Brown's Corners, after an illness of five days. The deceased was taken ill Friday and grew steadily weaker despite the efforts of physicians.

Henry Mauger was born January 8, 1820, in Burkes county, Ohio, and was one of five children born to William and Elizabeth Mauger. The family moved to Fairfield, Ohio, when he was six years old, where he lived until 1864. In 1862 Henry Mauger and Elmeda Wilkins were united in marriage, moving to Rock Creek township in 1864, where they have since made their home.

DOG HOLDS BABE'S MOTHER AT BAY

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 26.—Eight shots were necessary to reunite Mrs. Steve Ham and her six-weeks-old babe last night in her room over the DePew Brothers store at Altona. An angry bulldog took possession of the tot as it lay in the crib while the mother stepped out of the room. When she returned the dog growled and refused to permit the mother to go near the child. Several men were called in and they, too, were afraid to cross the dead line with the dog pacing back and forth. For an hour they tried to get him off the beat but to no avail and a revolver was called into play and after emptying eight cartridges the frantic mother's babe was clasped in her arms once more, and DePew Brothers were shy one dog.

Twenty-five candidates were initiated into Paul Homestead, No. 856, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, at a meeting in Odeon hall last night. An excellent program was carried out, at the conclusion of which a banquet was served.

With the charm of many garden flowers of rich reds and orange tints, and the lovely view of the out of doors about them, the nearly one hundred guests who played bridge at the Country club this afternoon spent a very delightful time. The party, the largest card affair of the season, was given by Mrs. Artemas W. Pickard and Mrs. James B. White. Receiving with the two hostesses was Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Thomas VanEtten, of Sidney, Ohio. There were a number of ladies assisting during the afternoon and several out of town guests enjoyed the party. Mrs. Frank L. Smock, Mrs. Will H. Olds, Mrs. Harry Perfect, Mrs. Peter Pickard, Mrs. Alex White and Miss Harriet Fowler lent aid in arranging the games and keeping tallies. A luncheon was served after the card playing. Guests from away included Mrs. Frank Keplinger, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Barrett Russell, of Cleveland. The entire appointment of the party was elegant.

Miss Bessie and Miss Erna Tapp gave a theater party at the Empress this afternoon, followed by refreshments at Aurentz's, with Miss Grace Griswold as the honor guest. She was presented with a lovely corsage bouquet of Richmond roses. Others who enjoyed the affair were Misses Mamie and Edith Jacobs, Mabel Ellenwood, Helen Miller and Mrs. Magnus Certia and Mrs. John Strawbridge.

Miss Alma Sharp, of West Superior street, gave a very pretty evening party yesterday, honoring Miss Helen Essig. The amusement was five hundred. Those who participated in this merry affair were Misses Vera Brownsberger, Avajean Kincaid, Elsie Mariotte, Clara and Bertha Pfeiffer, Ethel Kirby, Mabel Stedd Mrs. Sidney Karn, Mrs. Leon Mariotte, Mrs. George Hibbins and Mrs. George Stouder.

Miss Myrtle Carter, of East Creighton avenue, gave a beautiful though informal thimble party yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Alma Doehrmann and Miss Olive Doud. Before inviting her guests to the diningroom Miss Carter wrote some advice for the coming brides. These notes were then attached to the wedding bell place cards on the table and when supper was served were read, thereby causing much merriment. The table and the rooms were tastefully decorated with yellow and white flowers and candles. There were eighteen young women present at this attractive party for coming brides and there was less sewing accomplished than there was visiting with the honor guests.

Miss Raeder is a Fort Wayne high school pupil and has many friends and Mrs. Raeder leaves a large circle of lifelong acquaintances and friends here.

Hull—Beuchel.

The wedding of Miss Anna Beuchel and Dr. Chester E. Hull took place on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride, 1614 East Lewis street, Rev. August Lange, pastor of Zion's Lutheran church, officiating. The bride was prettily and becomingly dressed in white charmeuse trimmed with embroidered net and applique lace. Miss Gertrude Beuchel, sister of the bride, was her attendant, and was attired in a salmon pink crepe meteor. Mr. Warren J. Hull, brother of the groom, was his attendant. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and wedding bells. After the marriage service the wedding party, numbering about seventy-five friends and relatives, enjoyed a supper. A string orchestra furnished the music.

SOUSA'S BAND IS GREAT TREAT.

Every Seat Taken and Famous Director Receives Great Applause.

Every seat in the house filled with expectant men and women waiting for his appearance on the stage and a burst of applause when he did so, was the greeting extended John Philip Sousa and his band at the Majestic theater last evening. It was a fine audience and Mr Sousa must have recognized the pleasure he was giving for certainly no director could be in a more generous mood than he was or any quicker to respond to the applause that greeted every number. Not only the program, but many old favorites were given with the same command not alone of essentials in conducting, but with the remarkable individuality that characterizes Mr. Sousa. His newer compositions were extremely interesting and while there were two numbers that were very much ragtime in style the "American Maid" and "From Maine to Oregon," both new, were fine examples of Mr. Sousa's creative ability. Encore numbers were "El Capitan," "Girls I Have Loved," "Fairest of the Fair," "Sextette from 'Lucia,'" "My Gliding Girl," "Manhattan Beach," "Stars and Stripes," "Snooky Ookums" and "Knock-out Drops."

The soloists, Mr. Herbert Clarke, world famous cornetist; Miss Virginia Root, a very pleasing soprano, and Miss Margel Gluck, a young violinist of surprisingly good musicianship in every way, technique, expression and understanding, were received with much favor. Mr. Clarke met with great enthusiasm. His phrasing, beautiful tones and expressive playing were fully appreciated, particularly in the encore, "Moonlight Bay." Miss Root sang "Annie Laurie" Beethoven minuet which she played with Sousa composition, "The Goose Girl." Miss Gluck was called back twice after playing two movements from a Vieuxtemps work. Her second response was a Beethoven minuet which she played with artistic finish.

Mr. Sousa and his famous band appeared here under the auspices of the Morning Musical society and was the opening artist recital of the coming season's work.

AT THE TEMPLE

The present bill at the Temple theater presents Newport and Stirk in "A Barber's Busy Day" and they keep the audience busy wondering what freakish move will be made next. The act is very fast and novel. Patsy Doyle, comedian in a line of talk. James S. Devlin and Mae Ellwood in "The Girl from Yonkers," a lively sketch; Albert J. Hawthorne and Frank A. Burt in "A Raw Recruit," and the Walter E. Deaves in "The Merry Manikins," with the usual good line of pictures and music, make up the bill.

AT THE EMPRESS

Nothing could be more delightful to the children than the wonderful dog act now at the Empress, and with two matinees Saturday and seats for children under twelve selling for five cents for either show, there is no real reason why every boy and girl in the city should not see it. Miss Merian, who trains the dogs has worked out one of the most complete pantomimes one could imagine. The dogs work alone and unaided on the stage and there is the dog automobile, the hotel with its elevator, the milk wagon, the ambulance all looked after by the dogs. It's as good as the best dog and pony show any child ever saw. The first matinee starts at two o'clock and the second at 3:30. There will be amateurs tonight in connection with both performances.

AT THE JEFFERSON

The Jefferson is offering a visualization of Sir Walter Scott's novel, "Ivanhoe," in four reels. It possesses the quality of atmosphere to a remarkable degree. It visualizes for the observer very effectively the knights of olden days, ancient castles and battlements, Robin Hood and his merry band, and through the entire production there is scarcely a thing to be wished from a scenic standpoint. The acting is adequate throughout. King Baggot appears as Ivanhoe, Evelyn Hope as Lady Rowena and Leah Baird as Rebecca.

Extra tonight is Ralph Patterson, the most popular vocalist in the city; Rae Collins, soprano, another favorite, and Laubsheler, a new face that has a new and novel stunt which he declares is the best ever. Saturday comes a two reel thriller entitled, "Escaped From the Asylum." Monday and Tuesday comes the great Helen Gardner in "The Wife of Cain," in four reels.

May Robson's Stuffed Peppers

MAY ROBSON.

May Robson, who has so successfully starred during the past few years in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," is the best story teller among the women of the stage. In private life she is Mrs. Charles Augustus Browne, wife of the police surgeon of New York city. At their home on Sunday evening there is always a merry company when the actress is "off the road," and when May serves her celebrated stuffed peppers her friends scarcely can tell which is the more individually piquant—the delectable dish or the clever stories of their hostess. Here follows her stuffed peppers recipe:

Wipe carefully and grate into small pieces fresh field mushrooms and fry slightly in a tablespoon of butter—there should be a cupful of cream, two tablespoons of soft bread crumbs, a half cupful of chopped clams, one beaten egg yolk and half a teaspoon of salt. Remove seeds and veins from half a dozen bell peppers, parboil in a little salted water and fill with this dressing. Bake in an earthen serving dish for twenty minutes, and baste occasionally with butter and water.

Is Feminine Art of Sewing Passing?

Ready-to-Wear Clothing is Doing Away With Much of the Former Handwork and Knitting.

"Once upon a time the first present thought of as suitable for a young girl was a dainty workbox or basket. But nowadays the workbox or basket is seldom seen in a woman's room. There is practically no demand," said the representative of a large New York firm the other day.

"Few men now receive knitted ties, waistcoats and socks for birthday and Christmas presents, because fewer women then ever indulge in the peaceful pastime of knitting. "If a woman knits at all it is to produce a knitted vest or golf coat for her own use."

Although there has been a persistent attempt to revive the domestic pastimes of knitting and sewing among women this last year or two, the modern woman has come to the decision that she really has no time to bother with such things.

One reason why daughters' outfits cost more money than formerly is because very seldom do mothers make their girls' clothes. At one time it was a regular custom in almost all classes to have them made at home.

"No woman does her own sewing unless she is absolutely compelled," said a woman of wide social experience, when asked her opinion on the subject.

"There are so many diversions and amusements for women nowadays, that they say they cannot be bothered with sewing. It is so much easier to go and buy things, and ready-made clothes are so much better constructed than they used to be. As for knitting, I never see anybody knitting wherever I go."

Is she right? And is that entirely true in Fort Wayne? No! The handy workbox is still seen, with the little piece of work therein that women pick up and work upon at every available spare moment.

But as a matter of fact sewing and knitting are no longer the graceful feminine pastime that perhaps they used to be. When a woman sews it generally means that she has to do several hours' steady work at her sewing after she has completed her ordinary full day of labor.

To be sure, positive indifference is shown by many mothers as to whether their children learn needlework or not. Many little girls of six or seven have never had a needle and thread in their hands.

This may be the modern way, but is ignorance of needlework—the most feminine of all arts—the best way to bring up the rising generation?

WORK AND ITS INFLUENCE.

Girls Growing Up With Wrong Ideas of Manual Labor.

Is the home life of the average girl of today so sheltered and comfortable that she is "spoilt" and ashamed to do useful work?

This question is raised by a striking indictment of the modern girl by a well known authoress.

"Too many girls are spoiled at home," she asserts.

"They are spoiled in the sense that they are trained to believe in a false conception of life.

"I have been amazed at the number of girls in poor circumstances whose chief idea is to earn their living in 'ladylike' ways—as companions, governesses and such occupations. Almost anything else would be better.

"The maid with her salary of $30 a month is surely happier. But this idea that manual labor is something disgraceful dies hard.

A Canadian girl friend of mine recently spent a holiday in a small town in the states with some relatives. As the girl's relatives were poor, they could only afford one maid, but so 'refined' were they that none of the four daughters ever did anything more arduous in the way of domestic work than lightly dusting the chairs and tables.

"My friend wanted to help the overworked maid with the washing-up and to sweep floors and do other healthy exercises, but the horror of her friends—their dread that a visitor might see her working—restrained her.

"Even if her parents are well to do the Canadian girl likes to be independent. But never will you find girls in poor families remaining idle for the sake of the 'refinement' while their fathers and brothers work."

PIECE OF LEATHER.

For use in an ironing holder a piece of leather cut from the top of an old shoe will protect the hand from the heat also save callous spots from the grip if one uses the patent handle irons.

BRIMS OF NEW HATS LEAP UP.

The general line of the hats from back to front is somewhat shorter, and there is none of that backward swerve of the brim; quite the contrary, for those brims which are wide in the back are liable to be turned up close to the crown after the manner of the Louis XVI. style. The manner of wearing the hat continues the same; low on the head, tipped to one side, and raised on the other, showing the hair and the entire nape of the neck.

In colors there are black and white quantities of plain black, tete de negre, and dark navy blue, so soft and dull in tone that it becomes strangely confused with black.

There is apparently no angle or boundary line for the trimming. Bows of velvet spring out in wide, wing-shaped form from the back, and are cut and pinched and wired into precise loops and placed directly in the middle of the front. Feather fantasies follow the same untrammeled paths; they spout from the front, tip backwards from the side or rise valiantly to great heights at the back. In general there is less of the fly-away movement, of the stout little pine tree aigrettes springing out at right and from the brim, or balancing one another in parallel lines from the top of the crowns.

Furs cleaned by our "Quality" process will look as bright and clean as new and all danger of moths will be removed. Troy Dry Cleaning Co. Phone 6003.—Adv.

STRIKING SCORE CARDS.

Inexpensive and handsome score cards can be made from floral wall paper. Roses and carnations are both very effective. One way is to paste the floral paper smoothly on watercolor paper, which costs five cents a sheet. When the paste is thoroughly dry, cut into odd shapes so that a flower is on each card. Attach a pencil and letter with a small brush. No one would ever suspect that they were not hand painted. Another dainty score card is made by cutting a rose out of a piece of wall paper, pasting writing paper at the back and folding the writing paper beneath, which makes a leaf on which to write the score. Attach the card to the dress or belt by a twisted cord of embroidery silk. These cards may be made from any pretty flowered wall paper.

CONCERNING CANNED FOODS.

If a can of food is bulged at the sides or bottom of the can the chances are that are has caused fermentation and the goods have spoiled, though if the sides of the can are pressed in one may be certain that it is good. Ptomaine poisoning is frequently caused by leaving food in the cans from one meal until another. No difference what is canned it should be taken out as soon as the can is opened. When opening salmon cans let the oil drip off, fill the can with water and drain off all fish oil, and it will remove the rank odor from the contents.

AFTERNOON FROCK THAT'LL WEAR

Black charmeuse is still a modish fabric. It was used for an afternoon frock which shows the season's favored high draped girdle, tulle draped bodice, and flounced skirt of varied treatment. Couturieres now insist that a gown must allow for body expression. One noted designer develops such a model by using white chiffon, trimming it with milk tail banding and black satin. This wrap, of rose velvet, attains distinction by a master's hand, which drapes the lovely fabric in two distinct ways and uses white fox, the kindest of foils for a velvety skin, for the generous collar.

MADE DOCILE BY OPERATION.

Convict Murderer, Under Long Sentence, Completely Changed.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 26.—An operation has transformed Janos Szikely, regarded by the keepers as the most vicious prisoner in the state prison, into a docile, industrious man. The same operation restored to him use of the English tongue, lost to him for a number of years.

Janos is serving thirty years for murder at Belvidere. He killed a man in a drunken brawl in 1911 and in the same fight he was injured. While at the prison he had been particularly vicious. He muttered continually in his native tongue and made all the trouble that it was possible for a prisoner to make. Then his health declined so that the last rites of his church were administered.

As a last resort the prison physician, Dr. Martin W. Reddan, removed a piece of bone that had been pressing against the brain. As he recovered consciousness Janos asked in good English for a glass of milk. Since the operation he has improved steadily and is now one of the best-behaved prisoners at the institution.

The estimated daily average consumption of cigars in the United States is 21,718,488, and of cigarettes 23,786,190.

MEN GONE, WIVES ON JURY.

Court Solves Dearth of Jurors for Police Cases in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Most of the male citizens of Larkspur, in Marin county, "commute" across the bay of San Francisco and are not available for jury service. Troubled by that situation, Police Judge Simpson, of that town, has hit upon the plan of making up his panels with commuters' wives.

Hereafter, according to Judge Simpson's announcement, if John Smith is called for jury duty and he happens to do business in San Francisco, Mrs. Smith will be summoned in his stead.

To plan with Judge Simpson is to act, and no sooner had he proclaimed his scheme than he put it into effect by summoning twenty women, all prominent in club and social circles, to try the case of a contractor charged with obstructing the streets.

New classes will be organized in all departments of the International Business College, day and evening, during the week, Sept. 29 to Oct. 6. 25-3t

MOSS RIDDLES HERRICK PLAN

Indiana Congressman Favors Co-Operation in Rural Credit System.

CHAT AT WASHINGTON

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Sept. 26.—Representative Ralph W. Moss, of Indiana, has come out in favor of the co-operative plan for rural credits. He made a speech recently in the house riddling the plan first suggested by Myron T. Herrick, Taft's ambassador to France, and put into the form of a bill and recently introduced by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida. The latter plan has the Wall street tag and Moss points out that the only successful rural credits scheme, as he observed in his trip abroad, was that where the farmers pool their own funds and manage their own co-operative banks in their own interests instead of letting others play the Shylock to them.

• • •

It is becoming quite popular to take up the cause of the capital city in the matter of self-government. One of the best and most radical bills introduced in congress is that which has just been fathered by Representative Clyde H. Tavenner, of Illinois, who proposes that the 325,000 people of Washington, irrespective of sex, be given an opportunity to decide by a referendum vote whether or not they would like to govern themselves, and if so, what they think of the Des Moines plan of commission government, woman suffrage, the initiative, referendum and recall, and revision of the tax system.

• • •

The cost of living will be pried up another peg by this new order issued by the department of agriculture applying a quarantine against potatoes from the British Isles, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Newfoundland and the islands of Pierre and Miquelon, in the St. Lawrence river. This order is due to the quarantine against certain potato diseases which have developed in these countries. The result is that the United States must depend entirely on its own crop for its own consumption. This will mean higher prices for potatoes.

Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, returning from abroad, declares that the losses in killed and wounded in the Balkan-Turkish war were unprecedented. "The Montenegrin army lost 25 per cent. of the men engaged," said the general, "while the Bulgarian army lost 86,000 men. This has been one of the most desperate and destructive wars of modern times. The whole country is devastated; every home and harvest field was burned or destroyed. I saw more than 150,000 refugees who have fled from the invader. In one group of these, twenty-five babies died in a single night from exposure and starvation. Many of the wounded soldiers have no homes and their families who are alive are wandering half starved among the refugees. At the capital of Bulgaria the railroad officials reported 50,000 disabled men had been received. Field hospitals are overcrowded with wounded and in one field I found 4,000 wounded men without shelter from the sun or rain. High officials report that over 100,000 were killed in the Bulgarian army and an equal number of casualties probably occurred in the opposing army. "It is not necessary here to say who was responsible for this war," continued the general, "but those who are responsible for wars and railroad disasters are not the ones who suffer," he added. General Miles has joined his appeal to that of the Red Cross for funds.

GIRL JILTS MAN, ARRESTED.

Floridan Says He Was Cast Aside After Giving Ring and $400.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26.—Miss Nina Lloyd, 18 years old, of Wyndmoor, Pa., was held in $300 bail by Justice Conley on a charge of false pretense preferred by Charles W. Lee, of Miami, Fla., who averred she jilted him.

Lee, who asserts he owns orange plantations in the south, testified he came here to marry Miss Lloyd and declared that after she was given a diamond ring and $400 of his money to help her pay board and buy a trousseau she jilted him.

MONON VETS COMMENDED

President Harrison Gives Each Silver Medal With Picture of Engine.

SOME SHOPMEN MEET MISFORTUNE

J. Wyatt and J. Gill Have Fingers Hurt and H. Hilleke Scalp Cut.

Every employe of the Monon company who has been on the payrolls for twenty-five years received a letter of congratulation and commendation and a silver medal of honor from President Fairfax Harrison. The medal is a reproduction of a picture of one of the old engines, the "Admiral," which was once the pride of the road. President Harrison's letter in part reads as follows: "One of the pleasant experiences I have had on the Monon is meeting the men who have been on the line a long time, for I regard their long service a badge of efficiency and loyalty. We hear much nowadays about rights, but very little about duty, and yet every man who has had any experience in the world knows that for every right there is a corresponding duty. It is because I recognize this sense of duty in our older men that I have so much respect and regard for them and I want to show it."

HAS A NICE SHOP.

Fort Wayne Engineering Company in New Factory.

All of the machinery in the old factory of the Fort Wayne Engineering works and a number of pieces just purchased have been moved into the new shop on Sixth street and the greater portion of it has been set up and put in operation. Manager J. H. Haberly said this morning that the machinery would all be ready for operation next week, when the company would be ready to take on some more machinists and experienced machine operators. The new factory is one of the best lighted, heated and ventilated establishments in the city and the new machinery is of the very latest and best type made. The present force is inadequate and the factory is away behind the orders. It makes electric pumps and air compressors for domestic, hotel and office use. F. E. Snyder is the factory superintendent, Ed Frauenfelder is the machine shop foreman and Charles Coudeway is the tool room foreman. The former factory room of the company has reverted to the Paul Pulley company and is now used as a storage and shipping room. This company is also pushed to the limit of its factory facilities. It has discarded the manufacture of wooden pulleys and is now exclusively engaged in building for the wholesale trade kitchen cabinets and tables of a special design, which are sold in all parts of the country. The works are closed in part this week on account of repairs to the boiler plant, but operations will be resumed in full next Monday.

REMINDED OF BIRTHDAY.

Assistant Trainmaster McKeehan Receives Greeting from Superintendent.

The mails today will convey to Charles E. McKeehan, assistant trainmaster of the Pennsylvania, the birthday greeting of Supt. W. M. Wardrop, which every member of the superintendent's official family receives on his birth anniversary. Mr. McKeehan enjoys the good will and respect of his railway associates and acquaintances to a high degree and he will receive many other reminders of the day. In brief his career is about as follows: Born in 1862, became a brakeman on the Pennsylvania in September, 1889; promoted to conductor in April, 1893, and advanced to assistant trainmaster in November, 1904. Mr. McKeehan's offices are in the building just west of Walton avenue in the east yards, in which is also located the offices of the yardmaster and his clerks.

VETS REMEMBER SUPERINTENDENT

Present Mr. Wardrop With Unique Wall Decoration.

Suspended in a conspicuous place against the wall in the office of Supt. W. M. Wardrop is the pattern from which was made the number plate of engine 7104 when she pulled the special train carrying the members of the Veteran association to Chicago last Saturday to attend the fourth annual convention and banquet. The piece is just the size of the metal number plates on the front of Pennsylvania locomotives, but it differs from them inasmuch as it is an accurate reproduction on a large scale of the buttons worn on the lapel of the coats of the vets. The outer border of the piece bears the letters P. F. W. & C. R. W. and is the color of silver, while in the center is a red keystone, bearing the letters W. & C. T. Mr. Wardrop is one of the youngest members of the association, but he is deeply interested in it and considers the emblem just presented to him one of the most interesting of the wall pieces in his office.

TRAIN LOAD OF SHOW CARS.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West Equipment Passes Through City.

Thirty or forty flat cars and box cars formerly the property of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show company, passed through the city today and attracted considerable attention from railroad people and others who saw them. As the reader already knows, the Buffalo Bill Show company has "busted" and the equipment was sold at public auction in a western city a few days ago. The cars were purchased by parties in the east and they are now going their to be repaired, repainted and fitted for service.

SCRAMBLE FOR WORK.

Since the introduction of the tonnage system of wages at the Lake Shore freight house was introduced, the stevedores keep a close watch on the incoming and outgoing freight and in a friendly way try to get to handle that which has the greatest tonnage. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a drayman drove up to the warehouse with a lot of barrelled and boxed scrap iron, the load weighing 12,000 pounds. The freight handlers saw him coming and immediately began to figure on getting the work and before the wagon stopped, a dozen men were on it in a friendly scuffle to see who got the first piece off, for to his gang would go the whole lot. Two gangs were in the scramble and the one defeated took it good naturedly and went to the other side of the building to handle cracker barrels and other light freight, while their opponents wrestled with compact packages that weighed one-half ton each.

OPENS MEETING EARLY.

Secretary W. S. Whitbeck, of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., will inaugurate the 1913-1914 series of noonday meetings at the shops early this year. The first was held yesterday at the Pennsylvania machine shop, the chief speaker being Archie L. French, a ventriloquist and impersonator of some note. Next Wednesday the first meeting of the season will be held at the Pennsylvania round house, at which Mr. Whitbeck will speak. There will also be meetings at the east car shops and the machine shop, but Mr. Whitbeck has not secured the speakers.

KARL BAHLINER RETURNS.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bahlinger and daughter, Miss Henrietta Bahlinger, arrived home at 5 o'clock last evening. They spent three months in touring European countries and in visiting the boyhood and the girlhood home of Mr. and Mrs. Bahlinger in Germany. They say they had a most pleasant time in the old country, but their ship encountered storm after storm on the passage from Antwerp to New York and many of the passengers were seasick, though they escaped. Mr. Bahlinger will probably resume his old place in the Pennsylvania shops Oct. 1.

COLONISTS' RATES NOW ON.

Colonists' rates went into effect yesterday and promise to be attended by big ticket sales to the west and Pacific coast points. The rate to coast points this year is $41.71, the same as on former years, but the limit of time tickets will be on sale has been shortened to fifteen days, from September 25 to October 10, inclusive. Local agents report some sales already and many inquiries, and they believe business will be good.

WILL INSTALL BIG CRANE.

A large crane in the team yards at the Wabash freight house is one of the contemplated improvements of the fall. The crane has been bought and will be shipped and installed within the next two or three weeks. It will be similar in construction to the big crane in the Pennsylvania freight yards, but will have ten tons greater capacity.

FINGER CRUSHED IN MACHINERY.

While at work at a machine in the Pennsylvania shops at 9 o'clock this morning, J. Wyatt, a rivet heater, got the second finger of his left hand in the gearing and the bone of the digit was broken between the knuckle and the second joint. The flesh was also badly bruised. Dr. A. H. Macbeth attended the young man and will endeavor to save the finger from amputation.

JOE GROSJEAN PROMOTED.

Joseph C. Grosjean has been appointed purchasing agent of the Fort Wayne Engineering and Manufacturing company, the appointment becoming effective September 15. He has been succeeded as cost clerk by Clarence Freimuth, formerly timekeeper at the factory of the Western Gas Construction company.

SHIPPING BOILERS.

Two 150 horse power tubular boilers left the Bass works yesterday. One went to the King Piano company, of Bluffton, and the other went to the Hoosier Manufacturing company, of Decatur, Ind. Men will go to those places early next week to set up these boilers.

HENRY HILLEKE RECOVERING.

Henry Hilleke, the Pennsylvania boilermaker who received a gash an inch and a half long in his scalp last Wednesday when a sledge which came off the handle as a comrade was wielding it struck him on the head, is recovering and will soon be at work again.

HAD FINGER NEARLY SEVERED.

This morning J. Gill, a pipefitter, had the third finger of his left hand nearly severed between the second joint and the knuckle. He was handling a casting and got the digit caught between the piece and the brick wall, cutting it badly. Mr. Gill is employed in the power department of the shops.

HAD A RIB FRACTURED.

Boilermaker G. C. Denehy, of the Pennsylvania shops, will be off duty a few days. Yesterday he was struck in the back and one of the ribs was fractured. The injury is not serious, but it disabled Mr. Denehy temporarily.

PUTTING IN PLANK FLOOR.

Carpenters are at work putting in a heavy plank floor in the new boiler shop at the Bass Foundry and Machine works. This improvement was delayed by the rush of other work.

REPAIRING LIGHTING APPARATUS.

William Sprandle and N. J. Markey, of the Pennsylvania electric department, are in Upper Sandusky rewiring and repairing the electric lighting system of the passenger depot.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Wabash Trainmaster C. E. Wells was in the city today on business for the company.

George L. Harris, Pennsylvania machinist, is on duty again, after being ill a few days.

B. Hermes, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, is off duty on account of the funeral of a relative.

H. C. Daseler has gone to Upper Sandusky and Lima on business for the Pennsylvania company.

F. J. Ruch, pipefitter at the Pennsylvania shops, is in the country today attending the funeral of his uncle.

Machinist Allen Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to the Hamilton farm to see his brother, who is quite sick.

Herman A. Pollack will go to Cleveland tomorrow to spend Sunday with relatives. He is a clerk at the Pennsylvania offices.

Robert J. Schmoll, H. T. Mills, E. P. Stenhan, H. P. Koehnlein and J. Haudenschild, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Machinists W. Brentzinhof and Fred McCoy, of the Wabash shops, have returned from an eastern trip and will resume work Monday.

Mrs. Cooper, wife of Rod Foreman C. G. Cooper, of the Pennsylvania shops, is going to New York tomorrow to spend a week with relatives.

C. W. Moore and A. J. Bobay, of the Pennsylvania paint shop, will take their wives to Chicago tomorrow for an over Sunday visit with relatives and friends.

C. O. Grove, who resigned a position at the Wabash machine shop a few days ago, has taken employment in the forming department of the Wayne Knitting Mills.

There is practically no change in the condition of M. C. Schram, Nickel Plate engineer, who was stricken with paralysis while at the throttle of an engine Tuesday morning.

W. E. Smoot, of Indianapolis, was in the city yesterday calling on the local passenger agents and prospective travelers. He looks after the passenger interests of the Northern Pacific in this territory and is a welcome visitor at all the offices.

A new run was placed in service on the Nickel Plate Wednesday morning and in the future will be a regularly assigned run. The train is made up in the Conneaut yards of the company each morning, being scheduled to leave for the east at 6 o'clock, running as far as Erie, where much of the switching in the Erie yards will be done by the crew. Only shipments out of Conneaut and Erie to one of these points will be carried by the train.

THIEVES WORK NEAR POLICE.

Loot Muncie Fire Station Fifty Feet From Police Headquarters.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 26.—"What chance has a poor suburbanite?" was a question uppermost in the minds of citizens today after it was learned that thieves broke into the central fire station, located in the same building with central police station and got away with several blankets, one overcoat and two pairs of trousers. Although the thieves worked not more than fifty feet away from central police station, they were not discovered in their work and escaped without leaving a clew.

MULE COLT'S KICK FATAL.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 26.—Herman Spencer, a young farmer, was killed yesterday afternoon when a mule colt landed its hoof over Spencer's heart. Spencer and his wife celebrated their first wedding anniversary Sunday. She witnessed the accident.

QUARANTINE CASE FALLS TO GROUND

NEWS OF THE POLICE

After four or five witnesses had given testimony in the city court this morning to show that William Morris, a wagon driver residing on West Superior street, had violated quarantine regulations, Deputy Prosecutor Callahan moved the dismissal of the case. A score of witnesses, comprising pretty nearly all the adult population of the Morris neighborhood, had been subpoenaed and were on hand. A sanitary officer had just testified that Morris was given permission to place domestic supplies on his doorstep and then back off a safe but indefinite distance and hold converse with his wife. This opened such broad latitude of possibility to the defense that a dismissal was thought wise, notwithstanding the prosecution had abundant testimony that the blockade had been run.

More Houses Than He Could Count.

The only feature of interest in the case of the city against Jacob H. Feichter for failure to obey orders of the health department to clean offensive vaults on his property was that Mr. Feichter has so many houses about the city that he couldn't tell the court the exact number. He thought the number was above thirty, but wouldn't make a positive statement. His case was continued until October 1st to give him opportunity to comply with the order.

Thief Is Sentenced.

Roll Slembaugh, arrested with Pete Parker, a colored man, at the fair ground last week for stealing overcoats and raincoats from automobiles parked around the grounds, entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and got $5 and costs and thirty days in jail. Slembaugh tried to protect his negro confederate, who pleaded not guilty. Parker's case was continued until Tuesday, by which time it is thought evidence of his guilt will be procured. The pair are strangers here.

Other Police Court Cases.

Sam Thompson, a cigarmaker, said he had come from a dry town where the wet weather had made tobacco too wet to be worked and had come to Fort Wayne, which proved to be a nice damp town in other respects than cigar stock. He said he would keep sober and get work and was allowed to go forth to try.

The case of Henry Berger for neglecting his child was continued a month to give him a chance to make provision for his offspring. He was arrested at the instance of his wife, Mrs. Emma Berger, of rural route 9, who said her husband had left her last May.

Fred Ulmer, arrested for violating the traffic ordinance, said he was forced by the congested conditions on Columbia street to drive on the wrong side of the thoroughfare. His case was continued indefinitely.

Clayton Bennear, the young fellow who had been looting the tea store of the missing Herbert Warner at 717 Clinton street, was arraigned for drunkenness and the case continued until October 1st. A more serious charge will probably be lodged.

Tom Marion, arrested for loitering, will be tried tomorrow, and Robert Carter, another loiterer, was turned loose.

For fifty years Norwegian women in the postal service have been paid the same salaries as men for the same work.

It is reported from London, by way of the yellow press, that the fashionable young men of that center of masculine fashion are trying to grow beards because brown derbies are the correct thing and it is not regarded as entirely proper to wear a brown deby with a smooth face.

SPORTING PAGE

WALTER JOHNSON, THE ONLY PITCHER THE OLD TIMERS HAVE EVER COMPARED TO AMOS RUSIE, WHICH TELLS ITS OWN STORY.

(By Walter Johnson.)
Statement by Greatest Pitcher in the World.

The Athletics will win the world's series because they are stronger offensively than the Giants. I do not believe the Giants will be any more successful against Bender and Plank than they were two years ago.

I have pitched against the Athletics seven times this year. Three times they beat me and three times I won from them. Once I faced them after we had practically lost the game. My experience has been that, unless I am right in every sense of the word and able to pitch shutout ball, they have beaten me.

I have often been asked if the Athletics have a batting weakness. If they have I never found it. Mack hasn't a weak batter on his team. Even his pitchers are dangerous in a pinch. I know this from experience.

Baker and McInnis are the most dangerous batsmen on the team. If either has a failing I don't know what it is. Both will go after bad balls and make base hits when a pitcher least expects it. Usually too, they do this when a hit means a run.

Collins is another sterling batsman. A man has to pitch to him all the time. He seldom goes after one inside or outside, and when he gets the pitcher in a hole he will hit safely three times out of four.

Eddie Murphy, Oldring and Strunk are up there crowding the plate all the time. They are hard men to pitch to for many reasons. They may be fooled on a curve three times running, and the fourth time, when a run is needed, they will whale a hook for extra bases.

Schang and Lapp, the catchers, are good hitters, and Dannie Murphy, the pinch hitter, is a slugger always feared.

If Brown, Shawkey, Houck or Bush start in a world's series game and can hold the Giants to three runs, the Athletics will win every time. I look, though, for Bender and Plank to win the championship for the team.

Mathewson and Marquard will not fool the Athletics. Tesreau may do so, for he is a spit ball pitcher and we have no first-class spitters in the league since Walsh had to quit.

The Athletics are a better all around team at present than they were in 1911 when they last met the Giants.

FRED CLARKE IS AFTER THE FANS

Says Pittsburg Patrons Ought to Show Wagner Their Respect.

IS GREAT PLAYER

Pittsburg, Sept. 26.—"I have been so fairly treated by the fans of Pittsburg, and my men have been supported so loyally during a long term of years, that I do not like to find fault in any way with local patrons of the game, but I do wish they could bring themselves to show a little more enthusiasm over Hans Wagner."

This statement was made by Fred Clarke, manager of the Pirates, in discussing the recent great work done by the "Flying Dutchman" in the eastern series.

"Wagner is a most remarkable fellow," continued the man who has studied him for years, and knows him probably better than any other. "He is one of the gamest men that ever donned a spiked shoe, and it actually hurt me when a few weeks ago I heard fans in the stands at Forbes field thoughtlessly score the big fellow because he failed to make a hit.

"I would rather have Wagner, minus both arms and both legs in the lineup, than most any player I could get to replace him. Why, it's really wonderful the influence he has over his mates. Pittsburg has become so accustomed to his greatness that it no longer appreciates him, and will not adequately credit his work until it is forced to stand for a man in his place. Then his greatness will be recognized, and the fans will come to see just what they have missed.

"I have known Wagner to appear in the clubhouse before a game, limping in pain and scarcely able to move. He has told me he didn't feel able to play. I have appealed to his sense of loyalty and told him to go out there and stand about, just to help the other fellows by his presence. I have seen him sit down, wrap bandages tightly about both bruised and battered knees, other bandages about sore and displaced muscles in his legs, and tie tape about raw and bleeding fingers—just to help me out. He wasn't fit to play, but battered and decrepit as he was, he was much more than one-ninth of the nine's strength. With him out, the others would have lost heart. I have seen it so often that I talk by the book.

"I can't stand it to hear Wagner roasted. Why, he's so game that I have seen him run over to cover second base, expose his sore legs to the spikes of a determined base runner when he knew that the slightest contact meant agony to him. Yet he never hesitated for an instant, and never thought of flinching.

"He is not only the greatest ball player in the world but he is one of the most faithful men I have ever known. I respect him because I know him like a book, and I know how far he would go, and has gone, for me.

"Pittsburgers are mighty loyal, and I have no kick whatever coming on their actions but I sincerely hope they'll never roast Wagner for any slip. If they could see the way he is cheered and lauded in other cities, they would feel ashamed if they ever allowed him to step to the plate at Forbes field without making the welkin ring with shouts of praise for him.

"In most other cities they think it is Honus' right to make a hit every time he comes to bat. If he fails, they sympathize with him, and do not belittle him. If one of their pitchers strikes him out they reconsider him deserving of a Carnegie hero medal. If Wagner knocks the ball out of the lot for a home run they beseech him to do it again, because they actually believe he can pull those things at will.

"If Pittsburgers didn't see Honus for a year or two, and he should then appear here, he would be welcomed more than he is now when he returns from a short trip. I pity the poor fellow who has to replace him when he finally quits the game. That youngster, regardless of how able he may be, will have the toughest job ever assigned to mortal ball player, and the very men who today sometimes thoughtlessly score the big Dutchman, will call his successor's attention to the way Wagner used to do things."

Clarke went on to tell of a visit he, Wagner and two or three other Pirates paid to a large automobile factory at Buffalo. The company employs 2,500 men, and they all lunch in the factory. One room has dining space for 1,700. Honus and his friends were taken through the dining room just as the men sat down to lunch.

"You never saw such an ovation in your life," said Fred, in describing the incident. "Every man in that room stood up and yelled at the top of his voice for Wagner. They took their knives and forks and beat a tattoo of praise upon their plates, until the noise was deafening. Honus walked the length of that room, and it took a lot of nerve to do it. But if his reception didn't warm his old heart he's not human.

"After lunch we were taken through the entire factory. After we came out I told John he owed the company money. 'How's that?' he queried. 'Why, I told him, 'there are 2,500 employes there, and every one of them neglected his work for at least thirty seconds to look at you. Figure it out for yourself, and see how much of the company's time you robbed them of.' Honus laughed, and said he guessed he'd have to buy one of their machines to even up."

MAYBE CONNIE MACK KNOWS SOMETHING ABOUT JACK COOMBS THAT THE PUBLIC IS NOT IN ON.

"Don't worry about the Athletics' pitchers," say men close to Connie Mack when some one intimates that pitching weakness will cost the Philadelphians the world's series.

Because Connie Mack is Connie Mack a deep rooted suspicion lurks in the minds of many that the long manager will "put something across;" in fact is putting something across right now.

Mack is finishing the season with a safe lead over the American league place winner, whether it be Cleveland or Washington. He is using his young pitchers, resorting to Bender and Plank only when forced to do so toward the end of a game.

Both of the veterans are resting for the "crucial test" when Athletics meet Giants. They must be in perfect trim, not stale from overwork, to beat New York.

Mack has but one youngster, it is generally conceded, who can stand the world's series gaff, and that one is Bob Shawkey, who promises to be one of the game's great boxmen in the next few years. Brown, Houck and Pennock will not stand the acid test.

But Mack is known to pin his faith to those wizards, Plank and Bender, and neither will do more work than will serve, to keep them on edge until Oct. 6, the day the series opens.

"If Mack only had Coombs," is the wail from the American league, "the series would be a cinch. Coombs, Bender, Plank, with the Athletics' hitting power! Good night, Giants."

Well, perhaps Connie will have Coombs. The iron man from Colby, out of the game all season, is reported to be through for the year as the result of a strain received while getting into condition about a month ago.

It is openly hinted that Coombs was not injured at all, or if at all, but slightly, and is working out every day, rounding into condition to go in and save the day for the Macks.

TWO UNDEFEATED PITCHERS CLASH

Shop League Championship Game Promises to Be Big Struggle.

GETTING THE NOISES

Two pitchers will meet in the shop league championship game at league park tomorrow afternoon who have not been defeated in a scheduled contest in the organization this season, and aside from the question of whether the Fort Wayne Electric works or the Western Gas Construction company will capture the gonfalon interest is added by the battle between these two hurlers.

George Lentz will carry the hopes of the electric works employes in the crucial struggle and he won thirteen straight during the summer. He is right at the hoodoo mark, which is accounted a hard one to pass.

Bob Smith will be the opposing pitcher, and while he has not won as many games for the Western Gas as Lantz has for his club, he has not been defeated in any of his undertakings.

Leo Hines will work with Lantz and "Red" Hargrave, a brother of the New Haven product who is touring the country with Johnny Evers and the Chicago Cubs in an effort to learn the game as it is played in the majors, will be behind the bat for Smith.

President Charley Smith said this morning that if the weather man will just kick in with the proper brand the biggest crowd that ever saw a shop league game will be on hand when the battle is started. He has arranged all the details carefully and the clubs will send their best men into the fray and they will be in the best possible condition.

As a producer of noise the Fort Wayne Shop league as a whole beats anything that ever happened any place in the world. Opposing rooters are framing up to put on a din tomorrow afternoon that will make an epoch in dins.

Electric works employes have bought all the horns they could find in the city and those that produce the greatest volume of sound are the most popular. Then there are the megaphones and some new apparatus that was being manufactured in the shops today.

While the Techs are framing up their campaign of noise the Western Gas rooters are not simply looking on. This concern has not as many people to draw from as the electric works but it proposes to make a showing and its specialty will be bells—cow bells, dinner bells and any other old kind of bells that can be raked up.

Each factory has in its ranks a lot of girl rooters and they will be there, as following a custom adopted by the big and little leagues, the management has decided to admit ladies free and boys under 16 years old for 10 cents a head.

The game will be called promptly and it is expected that not only the playing will be worth while but the rivalry between the opposing crowds will be a big feature. In order to give plenty of time for the battle it will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

OLD RECRUIT BREAKS IN.

George Whiteman Has Been in the Game for Several Years.

New York, Sept. 26.—Outfielder George Whiteman, of the Yankees, has been getting a lot of praise because of his heavy batting. The Gotham critics have been touting him as a sensational youngster and one who is certain to register a huge success in the majors as soon as the rough edges are worn off by experience.

If Whiteman's rough edges have not been polished by now they never will be, for he is the oldest youngster who has ever broken into big league baseball. He is even older than Drohan, who came to the Naps as a youngster and turned out to be a veteran minor league pitcher.

George has been kicking around in the Southern and Texas leagues for years. Several times his good work in the Texas was rewarded by promotion to the Southern, but he could never make a go of it in the Southern. Now he has been picked out by Scout Arthur Irwin for big league duty and his hitting has been heavy. But George is anything but a youngster. He was born Dec. 20, 1880, at Peoria, Ill., and will be 33 on his next birthday.

PHIL ARNOLD IS HAVING TROUBLE

Former Grand Rapids Owner Hits Rocks and is a Clerk in Store.

HIS CHILD IS BLIND

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 26.—That it never rains but it pours is an adage that surely applies to Phil Arnold, a former Grand Rapids Central league team owner. When Phil was here he had money to burn, it coming from a prosperous father who was a sporting speculator in Louisville. As seems to happen to all such chance takers sooner or later, no matter how smart they may be, the older Arnold met with reverses, Phil went broke with his team here through playing the ponies unsuccessfully and everything in the Arnold family was all shot to pieces in short order.

In their days of prosperity the Arnolds lived in one of Louisville's finest residences and their retinue of servants ran into two figures. The young team owner's father, mother and other members of the family visited here several times and made many friends who will greatly regret to learn of their misfortune. Phil was also well liked by the fans and made many warm personal friends who speak of him now as one of the finest young fellows the city ever entertained.

Phil is now clerking in a store at a weekly salary for less than his daily expenditures for luxuries in his palmy days. His parents occupy modest apartments not nearly so large as their servants formerly had. To top it all off a child who came to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Arnold was born blind, almost breaking the mother's heart. The young couple spent the first year of their wedded life in Grand Rapids.

HOW TO CURE CHOLERA MORBUS.

Many cases of this disease result fatally before medicine can be obtained or a physician summoned. It is easily cured when the proper remedy is at hand. Mrs. Charles Stewart, of Mt. Collins, N. It only costs a quarter. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Kid Plays Delehanty for a Bunt and Goes to the Hospital

Larry Lajoie, himself the greatest batsman of them all, thinks that Ed Delehanty could put it over any of them in his day. And to prove his point Larry told the following story at a gathering of ball players.

"It was back in the days of the twelve-club National league. There was a young third sucker with the Washington club named Flaherty. In one game we beat out a whole lot of bunts on this young fellow and he was heartbroken at the finish.

"I passed him on the way off the field, and he asked my advice about handling bunts. 'I'm fast, can throw as good as anyone in the league, but somehow or other I can't get put-outs on those bunts.'

"'Well,' I told him, 'I've noticed you play too deep. Whenever you expect a bunt why you ought to slip up with the pitcher's arm.'

"About three weeks or a month later we played Washington again. Along during the game Ed Delehanty came up with two men on and none down. And the first thing that kid did was to go slipping up to handle a bunt. I don't believe Delehanty saw him at that. But Ed took a full swing and that ball sailed down the third base line, hit Mr. Flaherty on the kneecap and bounded to right field. They carried Flaherty off to the hospital and he decided my advice about slipping up for bunts was mighty poor stuff."

MUSICIANS IN A MUTINY.

Will Not Attend Big Football Games on Account of a New Ruling.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 26—There will be no music at the University of Minnesota football games this year, at least not by the university band if the men stand by the threat made yesterday. The band has mutinied. The trouble arose over a conference rule limiting the number of members to accompany the football team on any of its trips, to thirty. The band members declare that the entire organization of about sixty must go or there will be no music either at home or abroad. Minnesota usually has taken its full band to the big out of town games, which has been a heavy expense to the football management. President Vincent was appealed to by a committee asking him to have the rule changed, but he is said to have refused to interfere.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, down hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

FARMER SENDS EGG; RECEIVES A LEMON

Huntington County Ruralist Puts Heart Throb on Shell and Draws Reply That is Holding Him.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 26.—Russell Overpack, a happy and prosperous young farmer of Union township, this county, gathered a perfectly good egg that Biddy had laid in his hat and a nameless longing filled his breast. Finally he thought he knew what ailed him and on the shell of the egg he wrote, "Wanted—A wife." He attached his name and address and sent the egg forth on its romantic adventures. This incident occurred August 23 last. The dreams with which his nights have been pleasantly filled were answered and shattered at one and the same time yesterday when the rural postman delivered into his hand a letter from down east, and this is what the writer wrote:

"Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 22.—Dear Sir: I received an egg the other day your name and address on it saying you wanted a wife. Your egg is the second one I got within a week, saying the same thing. Well, it got into the wrong hands, as I happen to be a boy, not a girl. But, say have you any sisters? I am 22 years old. I suppose some one else has seen the egg before I got it, and has written to you. But say, write and tell me how old is that egg? I had to take it outside and wring its neck. Well, will close now. Don't forget to write.

"Yours truly,
"THOMAS F. NORTON.
"1137 Eliz. Ave."

Russ has been pondering and the conclusion now in possession of his mind is that he has received a metaphorical lemon for a material eggs that was perfectly good when he last had it.

HOTEL MAN IS VICTIMIZED.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 26.—Landlord Ben N. Warren, of the Clugston house, and Liveryman George Hanes, of the West Van Buren street livery barn, awoke to the fact Thursday morning that they had entertained a bunch of grafters under the guise of solicitors for a publication known as the "Michigan Farmer" published in Detroit. They were left holding the sack, as the solicitors disappeared between two days after a sojourn here. Landlord Warren has a $15 hotel bill that remains unpaid, while George Hanes in the Shobe livery barn has a livery bill of $23.75 unpaid. They left a horse and buggy belonging to him at the Swank livery stable in South Whitley.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 26.—Nine employes of the Erie waterworks department narrowly escaped death Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock, six miles east of Huntington along the Erie, when a motor car they were riding collided with a freight train. All of the men jumped when the motor car was about fifteen feet distant from the freight. The men say the motor car was traveling at about twenty miles an hour and the freight train about forty miles per hour.

PIERCETON WILL REMAIN DRY.

Kosciusko Circuit Court Dismisses Appeal of the Wets.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 26.—Pierceton will remain "dry." On Thursday afternoon Special Judge W. D. Frazer sustained the motion of the attorneys for the "drys" to dismiss the appeal of the "wets" from the decision of the Kosciusko county commissioners. The arguments were heard on Saturday afternoon, and the matter was taken under advisement until Thursday, when the ruling was announced.

Judge Frazer referred to sections of the Indiana statutes governing appeals, and pointed out why, in his opinion, the motion to dismiss must be sustained. The law states that appeals can only be taken by the aggrieved parties against the final ruling of the commissioners. He pointed out that if the "wets" wished to appeal from the action of the commissioners in declaring the first election void, they were faced with the fact that they were not the aggrieved, the commissioners' ruling having left the territory "wet." He also pointed out the fact that no appeal could be taken from the commissioners' action in ordering a second election, that not being a final action.

MAY HAVE POISONED SELF.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 26.—There have been no new developments in the Washington township poison mystery, according to Prosecutor Sprague. The state's attorney says he is convinced of one thing and that is that Charles Oliver and his farm hand, Jesse Futrell, were poisoned, but he does not hazard an opinion as to how they came by it. He bases his belief that the two men were made ill by poison on the unqualified statements of Dr. Kirkpatrick, who was called to attend the men. Further investigation, Mr. Sprague says, will be made to determine whether or not Oliver was poisoned by his own hand or whether some enemy placed the dope in the coffe pot. It has been proved beyond peradventure of a doubt that Oliver's wife, who is suing him for a divorce and against whom suspicion was first directed because of family troubles, had nothing whatever to do with her husband's condition.

HOST OF EXHIBITORS.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 26.—That the exhibits at the Wells county agricultural exhibit and the Bluffton street fair come from many different persons in the community is shown by figures furnished by Assistant Secretary Bruce Kiger, who has been one of the busiest persons at the fair. His figures show that there are 360 persons who havee articles entered in the various departments. Some of these exhibitors have more than fifty separate entries. For instance one farmer alone entered between fifty and seventy-five separate exhibits. The total number of articles exhibited in all departments runs into the thousands.

BOARDERS ARE ROBBED OF CASH.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 26.—Ralph Haward, John Witte, Lawrence Bantham and two other men, all boarders at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Beibrick, at the corner of Twelfth and Adams streets, found themselves without ready cash when they returned from their day's work to their boarding house. Morris Holmes, a young man of the city, who has been employed at the Adams heading factory through the week and acting as a baseball umpire on Sundays during much of the ball season, was also a boarder and is now missing. Between $50 and $60 was taken from the several pockets. Of this sum, Bantham lost $22, Witte $12, Howard and another man boarding at the place $8 each, and the remainder from another boarder whose name was not learned.

WILL HAVE TEN SALOONS.

Delphos, O., Sept. 26.—The state liquor license commission has settled the much-mooted question as to the number of saloons to be allowed in this city under the new license law and the decision holds that the Allen county commission shall consider the entire population of the city and issue ten licenses for the city of Delphos. This is a question which has been discussed in Delphos from its various angles ever since the new license measure became a law on account of Delphos being located in two counties, the Van Wert county side, which comprises nearly half the population of the city, being dry. The state board holds that in determining the number of Delphos saloons, the county board may take into consideration the population of Delphos both in Allen and Van Wert counties.

MOTORCYCLE RIDERS INJURED.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 26.—James Ford, rural route carrier, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured, and Harry Myers, a barber, was badly bruised in a motorcycle accident just north of Keystone while on their way from this city to attend the Bluffton fair Thursday. The two men were riding the same machine. They had had considerable tire trouble and had lost much time. After making a repair and starting on again Ford remarked to his companion that they would speed up and regain some of the lost time. According to Myers, who arrived home on the 2:56 interurban car, they were going about thirty-five miles an hour. The machine was running in the wagon track on the right side of the road and in attempting to turn out it skidded and threw them.

NINETY PER CENT. BAD.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 26.—Dr. M. H. Krebs, medical inspector of the Huntington schools, in a remarkable report of the result of the school inspection that has been carried on for several days, brought to light the alarming fact that fully 90 per cent. of the pupils in Huntington have decayed teeth and deformed mouths. Dr. Krebs made many recommendations to the parents.

OBITUARY.

Sarah Ellen Stager, daughter of John and Elizabeth Stager, was born at St. Mary's in Auglaize county, Ohio, Dec. 28, 1835, and passed quietly away at her home in Newville, Ind., Sept. 19, 1913, aged 77 years, 8 months and 21 days. She was the fifth in a family of six children—five daughters and one son—who were bereft of their parents when quite young, being reared in different homes, Ellen making her home with an uncle.

She came to DeKalb county, Indiana, in 1860, and on June 7, 1863, she was united in marriage to William Seely at Fort Wayne, Ind. To this union were born four daughters—Mrs. Lizzie Jocelyn, Mrs. Bertha Wilson, Mrs. Lena Platter and Mrs. Maud May; also one son, John Seely, who with the husband and eight grandchildren are left to cherish her memory.

When a young woman she united with the M. E. church of Van Wert, O., but during her residence of 23 years in Newville she attended divine services at the Christian church whenever her health permitted. For over a year she had been practically an invalid but was patient and uncomplaining throughout her entire illness, her last days being full of peace.

Calmer and sweeter became her spirit until the gates of life lifted and allowed the worn pilgrim to pass into an eternal and well-earned rest. The gray light of heaven's morn has struck through the silver locks which are folded back over the peaceful brow and the splendors of the Celestial City kindle up her vision.

As the glory of the Autumn
With the ripening of the leaves
Marks the ending of the harvest
And the binding of the sheaves;
So there seemed a fitting beauty
In the glory of the day,
That marked the peaceful ending
Of the life that's passed away.

Funeral services were held Sept. 22 at the Christian church in Newville by Elder F. A. Thomas, of Auburn, who preached from Psalm 90:12. Burial in Evergreen cemetery.

FEEL HEADACHY DIZZY, BILIOUS? CLEAN YOUR LIVER! A DIME A BOX

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken tonight straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

THE PRECIOUSNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

The true value of human life depends entirely upon the care taken of the body, that an all-wise Creator has given us simply as an abode for the soul, which all who believe in Christianity believe to be undying—immortal.

God in his infinite wisdom has given us our existence with a purpose in view. Whatever particular reason or purpose He has is left to us to infer. He has endowed us with an intelligence and a reasoning power that is absent in the lower orders of animal life, and each and every person is given that power of discrimination which will enable him to discover the purpose for which he is created, and to do the duty for which he was created. In our mad rush to accumulate the wealth of this world we often lose sight of this fact, and many or most of us are prone to run counter to the fundamental laws of nature and bring upon us a diseased or abnormal condition that inevitably results in bringing us to a condition of incapacity that can only end in sickness, disease and death. In this manner we are not only cheating our Creator, but inflicting upon ourselves unnecessary hardships and loss of the happiness that ill health is sure to entail. Our own happiness and physical welfare (in most instances) is placed in our own keeping, and if we have erred and disease is the result of this error, the only rational or sensible way to do is to correct the mistake as far as it is possible for us to do. The United Specialists, by their large corps of highly-trained and thoroughly scientific investigators, are peculiarly adapted to treat and cure those very obstinate and rebellious conditions that have so long baffled the ordinary doctor, who must necessarily work alone. Any one can readily see the great advantage that the United Specialists have over any one doctor. All their ideas and theories are worked out in harmony and all the results of their investigations are compared at their many meetings and the very best is always chosen, as a matter of course. Hence when treating with them you are getting not only the result of one man's experience, but that of many, all of whom have a scientific interest in your case. That is your cure and good will. We believe that the beneficent results of science is but the hand of God directing and controlling the human mind, and guiding us for the betterment of human conditions and human happiness. While the results obtained from the United treatment of the United Specialists may seem marvelous to the average person, they do not believe that this could be obtained were it not that they were assisted by a supreme intellect. That they have been able to cure many cases that heretofore have been considered incurable has been amply proven by the many testimonials that they have on file. These are open to inspection for anybody that is sincerely interested in getting a cure. All you have to do is to ask. The United Specialists treat all chronic, nervous and special diseases of both men and women, and their special method of intravenous medication has saved numerous sufferers from an untimely grave. If you are interested in getting well and wish to enjoy the many blessing that can only be obtained from a healthy condition, you can do no better than consult with these master specialists. A consultation or examination will cost you nothing and if you earnestly wish to get cured they will give you the chance that you cannot afford to miss. Their institution is located at 124 East Washington street. Their office hours are 9 to 12, 1 to 5, 7 to 8; Sundays, 9 to 12 only.—Adv.

Can Doctor Cook "Come Back?" He's on the Way, With Big Jobs Ahead of Him.

DR. COOK'S LATEST PHOTOGRAPH.

(By W. H. Alburn.)

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook is determined to "come back."

I have just talked with enigmatic explorer pilloried as "the world's greatest liar," who now appears to be regaining public confidence.

Simply, quietly, this big, slow, patient man with pleasant blue eyes and unconquerable smile, told me of his tremendous fight to justify himself in the eyes of mankind, of the bold venture that is to be his next step, and the vast enterprise which he regards as his real life work.

He will win vindication from the American people; he will climb the highest mountain in the world; and then he will make the immeasurable resources of the polar regions available for the use of mankind. That is his program.

"When the campaign of defamation was at its height," he said, "and my nerves broke under the strain, I went away to rest till the lies should wear themselves out. Then I came back to prove my case.

"The battle was harder than I expected. It has taken nearly three years of my life. But now it is almost won.

"I went to the people. Day by day, month after month, I have traveled back and forth and up and down the United States patiently telling my story. At first my audiences were small. Now they pack the Chautauqua halls. In three years I have spoken to 3,000,000 people. Among all classes I have hosts of friends who believe in me.

"We are going to ask congress to name a commission of inquiry to determine my claims, for the honor of America. Let them appoint scientists and explorers—no matter whom. I will be satisfied.

"Then will come something worth while. I am tired lecturing. I must get into the open again. I am in the prime of life, mentally and physically stronger than ever, and ready to grapple with the biggest exploring job left in the world.

"Mount Everest, at the apex of the Himalayas, between India and Thibet, 29,000 feet high, the biggest of all mountains, has never been climbed. Nobody has ever really tried to climb it. It towers far above the tall peaks scaled by Abruzzi and Graham and Mrs. Workman.

"They say it is inaccessible. Very well—I will climb it! It cannot be so hard as the pole.

"And I will make no more mistakes. I will take along men who cannot be bribed to lie. For the final dash I will have three scientists of world fame—a topographer, a geologist and a biologist. I have picked one already—a Swiss. And I will take their affidavits on the mountain top.

"It will take a year. It will cost $25,000. I have half the money myself and can get the rest.

"Then will come work less spectacular, but more worth while.

"The results of polar exploration have not yet been put to practical use. If I can show the way, I will have done my work.

"The vast Arctic regions are swarming with life to within 500 miles of the pole. Land and sea have almost infinite capacity for supplying man with fur, food, oil and leather.

"The seals, whales, bears, musk oxen, walruses and narwhales, the fishes and the birds, should be fostered for our use. Species nearly extinct should be replenished.

"Northern islands offer boundless opportunities for the cultivation of this wild life under human control. Polar bears may be reared almost as easily as cattle are. The musk ox may provide food, leather and oil when our western herds have disappeared.

"The Antarctic lacks bears, musk oxen and other northern species. I would transplant them there and they would flourish. I would bring the penguin to the Arctic to furnish food and oil as the seal does.

"A general interchange of life would populate icy wastes and create limitless food and wealth. That would be conservation on a world scale.

"A sort of Noah's ark would be needed to transfer polar animals across the equator. You smile. Very well! Let us build a Noah's ark."

MAY BE VICTIM OF RED TAPE RULING

Wedded and Widowed in One Night She is Barred as Postmistress.

OHIO WOMAN'S CASE

Somerset, O., Sept. 26.—The favorite niece of that famous old warrier, Gen. Phil Sheridan, can't be postmistress of this town any more, Postmaster General Burleson says, because—

The department won't allow a married woman to be postmistress, and—

Miss Nellie Sheridan, who held that position here, got married; although—

She was married in the evening after she closed the office, and—

She was a widow the next day when her office opened.

The postal department says that although Mrs. Wilson is physically the same person, she is no longer Miss Nellie Sheridan, and so she loses her job.

Mrs. Wilson maintains that as she was unmarried when she locked the doors of her postoffice on the evening of September 3, and was a widow when she reopened them on the morning of September 4, the department cannot now take the job away from her; that if Burleson had wanted to enforce his ruling against married women holding postoffice positions he should have done it in the few hours she was a married woman.

But Burleson is going ahead hunting up a new postmaster.

Nellie Sheridan's wedding to T. C. Wilson ended a fifteen-year courtship. The bridegroom's health was uncertain and he was rapidly approaching a condition where he would need a woman's care, and a woman's nursing. During the night, after the wedding, he became violently ill, and at 4 o'clock in the morning died, making the girl of the evening before a widow.

There is no postal ruling against widows holding the postoffice job, and Mrs. Wilson is now qualified to serve, but the postal department recognizes Nellie Sheridan as postmistress—and not Mrs. Wilson.

MRS. T. C. WILSON, BARRED FROM OFFICE BY RED TAPE.

BOY RIDES TRAIN; GETS LOST.

Is Carried From Illinois to Kansas City on Ticket He Found.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 23.—Frankie Young, six years old, found a railway ticket on the floor in a station at Rock Island, Ill., and, fild for a ride on a train, decided to use it. He did not know the ticket would land him in Kansas City.

A policeman found Frankie weeping aloud near the Union station here. A few kind words from the policeman induced the boy to tell where he came from and how. Jesse Young, the boy's father, a Rock Island bricklayer, will come for him.

TO USE CAMELS IN AMERICA.

Business Men Contemplate Bringing Animals From Orient for Desert.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.—According to advices from El Paso, Tex., plans are on foot by an association of southwestern business men to import 200 camels from the orient for use on the deserts of Arizona, New Mexico and Southern California.

There are vast areas of desert in these states that have remained unexplored to the present day, owing to the great dangers attending desert travel, which could in a large measure be eliminated by the use of camels for transportation purposes.

The camel's well known ability to go for days without a drink fits him as well for use on the American desert as on the sandy Sahara.

Paper made from seaweed, said to be waterproof, fireproof and odorless, has been invented by an English chemist.

Germany in 1911 exported 5,154 motor vehicles, valued at $10,099,000.

INDIVIDUALITY IN MILLINERY

NOT MERELY STYLE FOR STYLE'S SAKE, BUT THE CORRECT MODEL FOR THE INDIVIDUAL.

THIS is the slogan of our Millinery Parlors, and it explains the success attained by them. Those who best know the difference between ours and the average Millinery Section are those who have profited by the expert advice and suggestions received therein. The object is not merely to sell a hat—it is to effect a happy combination of the individual type and the particular style most becoming to it. Not every hat will do for every woman. It is our province to assist in the proper selection—to help secure the most artistic ensemble. This can only be done where there is a profound knowledge of individual types as well as a knowledge of human nature, coupled with a knowledge of Everything pertaining to the artistic side of Millinery. That knowledge is here. You may use it for your own benefit. It will help you solve the hat problem. It is the quality that has built up our large clientele, and made this the most popular Millinery Section in Northern Indiana.

ASKED HIM TO "BE EASY"

yesterday after a long search. During the twenty-one days they sought him he called several times at the executive mansion.

Called Governor's "Dummy."

Colwell, whose home is in Yonkers, has been termed the governor's "dummy" in his Wall street deals. Attorneys for the defense yesterday declared that they would produce him today and permit him to testify. Colwell was more successful in concealing his whereabouts than Sarecky.

No report of his whereabouts was ever obtained after the days following revelations regarding the governor's dealings in Wall street. At that time Colwell disappeared from his home.

Persons who have followed the case closely thought they gained from questions asked a witness yesterday by Attorney Louis Marshall, for the defense, a line on how the respondent's attorney planned to explain his converting contributions to his personal use. Mr. Marshall brought out that the governor spoke of needing money for traveling expenses. This was believed to be for the purpose of building up a defense that Mr. Sulzer was in dire financial straits, that his friends knew of this condition and gladly helped him.

Regarded as Final.

The action of the board of managers in deciding last night not to bring additional impeachment charges at this time was generally regarded as final. Friends of Mr. Sulzer said the charges were not added for the reason that enough votes to pass them could not be mustered by Majority Leader Levy.

At the opening of today's session Attorney Kreisel introduced in evidence letters written last fall by Sulzer to William J. Elias and William Hoffman, democrats who contributed to the fund turned over to Sulzer by former Senator Stadler. The governor thanked Hoffman "for all you have done in my behalf." The letter to Elias expressed appreciation for "your letter and enclosure."

Judge Conlon First Witness.

Judge Lewis J. Conlon, of New York city, the first witness, told of handing Sulzer a $100 check from Daniel M. Brady. "What kind of a contribution was it?" asked John B. Stanchfield of counsel for the impeachment managers.

"It was a contribution to help him along in his campaign," said Judge Conlon. The witness said he had received acknowledgment of the receipt of the money from Sarecky.

"In the usual rubber stamp form?" asked the attorney. "It was an acknowledgment," replied Judge Conlon with some asperity.

In the cross examination Judge Herrick questioned him as to a conversation he had with Mark M. Potter, who the witness testified yesterday had given him a check for Sulzer.

"Did you have any conversation concerning Mr. Sulzer's financial condition?"

Objection to this question—that it was not competent—was entered by Mr. Stanchfield and was overruled by Presiding Judge Cullen, who gave a lengthy opinion as to the admissability of testimony tending to show whether it was the intention of contributors that the money could be used for private purposes or only to meet campaign expenses.

Evidence Concerning Intent.

"In my opinion," he said, "the respondent has the right to introduce evidence concerning the intent of the donors. Here we are considering a larceny charge and while testimony alleging the line of intent may not affect the moral culpability of the respondent, it certain does affect his legal status. If the respondent used the money as it was intended it should be used by the donors, he was not guilty of larceny and could not be convicted by a petit jury. Even the undisclosed intention of the donor negatives the idea of larceny and would prevent his conviction, however great might be his moral culpability."

The members of the court voted 49 to 2 to sustain the ruling of Judge Cullen.

Judge Conlon then continued his testimony. He said he had talked with Potter about helping out the governor.

"Didn't you tell him," asked Judge Herrick, "that he ought to have a new suit of clothes?"

Was Merely a Joke.

"Well if I did it was a joke," the witness replied as a laugh rippled around the court room.

"Well, didn't you as a matter of fact, tell him that he needed a new suit of clothes and a new hat for his campaign up the state?"

"Yes, I said something like that."

Daniel M. Brady, the next witness, declared he had destroyed both the check and stub which he had contributed to Sulzer.

"Why did you destroy them?" asked Senator Bussey.

"Because I realized the entire matter was a fight between two factions. I was friendly to both sides and I didn't want to get mixed up in it. I thought that to destroy the check and the stub would be a pretty good way to get out of it. But I found out my mistake, as I have lost a great deal of my time from my business as a result."

He destroyed the check and stub, he said, after he heard of the governor's impeachment.

In reply to a query from Judge Herrick, Mr. Brady said he had "never regarded Sulzer as anything else than a poor man."

John T. Dooling, of New York, told of meeting the governor on October 15 and giving him a $1,000 check. "I told him that I understood he needed help. I handed him the check. He thanked me."

Mr. Stanchfield asked Dooling if he had talked with Hugh J. Reilly regarding Sulzer's financial condition, but Judge Cullen sustained an objection. Reilly is a wealthy railroad contractor for the Cuban government.

The Wall Street Charge.

The prosecution then took up the charge that the governor had used campaign contributions in speculating on Wall street.

Philip Boyer, of the brokerage firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co., was called to the stand. He said that Frederick Colwell had come to him on October 16, 1912, and given him an order to buy 200 shares of Big Four stock "for cash delivery." Colwell paid for it in checks for $4,900 and $7,125 in currency. He read off the list of checks: William Sulzer, personal check, $900; Theodore W. Myers, $1,000; John Lyon, $500; Lyman A. Spaulding, $100; Edward F. O'Dwyer, $100; John W. Cox, $300; the Frank V. Strauss Co., $1,000; John T. Dooling, $1,000.

Mr. Colwell, said the witness, remarked that he was purchasing this stock for himself.

Asked Him to "Be Easy."

Henry Morgenthau, who contributed $1,000 to Gov. Sulzer last fall, was recalled. He said that about Sept. 2 Gov. Sulzer called him on the long distance telephone.

"He requested me," said the witness, "in the event of my being called as a witness, to be easy with him. I told him I would state the facts."

"Was there anything said concerning your contribution?"

"He asked me to treat that affair as personal between us."

"What did you say?"

"That I would not."

James Temple Gwatkney, a New York cotton merchant, was next called. He told of having sent Gov. Sulzer a check for $100, which he requested should be used for the governor's personal campaign. "I wish this money to be devoted to that cause," the letter stated.

George W. Neville, another New York cotton merchant, told of collecting a campaign fund among merchants in his line of business. He could not remember the total amount collected. This fund he said was divided among several different candidates who were running for office last fall, "who were friendly to the contributors," and was "to defray campaign expenses. Mr. Sulzer received $200 of this fund," the witness said.

New York, Sept. 26.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, said this afternoon: "If they want me to testify at Albany there is no necessity of a subpoena issuing for me. Let them call me up on the telephone and I'll answer right away. I will be willing and ready to go."

The death duties on property in the British Isles, whether belonging to natives or foreigners, are progressive, ranging upward from 1 per cent on estates of less than $2,500, 2 per cent between $2,500 and $5,000, 3 per cent between $5,000 and $25,000, to 15 per cent on estates of $5,000,000 and over. There are also legacy and succession duties, varying in percentage.

SEEK WAY TO LET RESIDENTS VOTE

City Attorney After Measure to Define Precincts in New Territory.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

City Attorney Hogan and the city council are looked to to find a way that will permit citizens of recently annexed territory to go to the polls next November and cast legal and valid votes for the candidates for municipal office.

Territory south of Rudisill boulevard, annexed last May, has no defined election precincts, though the territory doubtless belongs and should be coupled with the fifteenth and sixteenth precincts of the Sixth ward. It is the function of the county commissioners to define precinct boundaries and it is required to do this in the March preceding elections. It is hoped to find authority for an ordinance by the council that can meet the present emergency. If none can be found the voters in the new territory probably will not be allowed to vote.

The Driving Park addition and other territory to the northeast, annexed last March, is not affected because the precinct boundaries were automatically defined.

RUSHING BROADWAY WEST SIDE.

Board Will Get That Thoroughfare in Commission Under Tracks.

With well defined plans to put at least half of Broadway at the Wabash grade separation in commission this fall, the board of works is rushing matters there. The approaches from both sides and the Guthrie street approach and the sidewalk and roadway on the west side will be completed. If the weather permits the east side will be finished also, but the board is not sanguine of that.

In two weeks street car service will be resumed under the bridge at Broadway. Excavation for the west track will be started tomorrow from DeWald street to the fill in Broadway over Shawnee run. The concrete slabs for foundation will then be placed and cushioned and the ties and rails laid. As soon as the foundation has seasoned cars may use the track. Then the east side will be gone at and completed in all respects. After that the finishing touches will be put on the west track. The interruption to service at this point is a serious matter.

NEW STREET COMPLETED.

The paving of Beaver avenue from Home to Kinnaird will be completed tomorrow evening and the street will be placed in commission Sunday.

Contractors began laying concrete on West Lewis street, from Harrison to Ewing, today.

WILL CONDEMN SOME LAND.

Board of Works Takes Steps to Build Dike on St. Joe Drive.

Besides the resolution ordering plans from the city engineer for the construction of drives along the river frontages, the board last night took measures to insure an ample flood barrier on the west front of Lakeside.

The board passed a resolution to take condemnation proceedings against two property owners on St. Joe drive, who refuse to yield enough from their lots to permit the widening of the drive so that a ten-foot dike may be built along it. The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the improvement.

The board adopted resolutions for vacating the following alleys: First alley south of Wabash tracks, from Broadway to the first alley east; alley on east line of Rockhill Heirs' addition from alley north of Howell street to the south line of the addition; alley between Wayne and Washington streets, from Garden street to Thieme drive. A resolution was adopted for paving the alley east of McClellan street, from Baker to the first alley south.

Property owners on Eliza street, from Cay to Winter, and on Harmer street, from Liberty to Hayden, presented petitions asking for pavement, requesting the letting of contracts for work this fall and commencing operations in the spring. The petitions were taken under advisement. The plat for Kosciusko place was approved.

Grosjean brothers were awarded the contract for constructing a cement sidewalk on the north side of Kinnaird avenue, from Fairfield to South Wayne avenue. The bid was 76 cents, as against 79 cents bid by the Moellering company.

The engineer was instructed, pursuant to a resolution by the council, to prepare figures on the cost of track elevation.

Assessment rolls were approved as follows: Paving Barr, Suttenfield to Pontiac; total cost, $3,411.24; sidewalks on south side of Fourth street, Franklin avenue to first alley west, total cost, $589.65; grading Sinclair street, from Runnion avenue to Loora street, sidewalks on north side of same street from Runnion to lot No. 51, Romy's Grove addition, and on south side from Runnion to lot No. 106, Dreier, Williamson and Bash addition, total cost, $3,842.64; opening of street forty feet wide between Delaware avenue and Forest avenue. In the latter improvement the Bayer Realty company receives $400 and A. Schnorr $19.80 damages in excess of their benefits.

COMMISSIONERS MEET.

Election Board Accept Petition for Socialist Ticket.

The commissioners will hold another meeting next Tuesday afternoon, for the transaction of any business that comes up between now and that time.

Mrs. A. L. Griebel, of Wildwood avenue, is a patient at the Lutheran hospital, where she was operated upon on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Griebel is doing as well as could be expected, as the operation was for a trouble of several months' standing. Her complete recovery is expected.

At a meeting of the house committee on immigration today the old Burnett-Dillingham bill, which met Mr. Taft's disapproval, was ordered reported to the house. Democrats back of the measure will get to work immediately to have this legislation indorsed by the caucus action which is necessary to insure its consideration at the present session. The bill came within seven votes of passage over Taft's veto and the complexion of the house has changed materially since then.

FEEL HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS? CLEAN YOUR LIVER! A DIME A BOX

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken tonight straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

LAKE IS MOVING ACROSS COUNTRY

Creeks Lift Themselves Up and Later Become the Highland.

MAY BE HIDDEN LAKE

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 26.—A portion of country three by five miles in dimensions, part of which is the property of the state of Washington, situated a few miles back from Stevenson on the Columbia river, in Skamania county, absolutely refuses to "stay put," says State Forester E. W. Ferris, who has returned from an official trip to that part of the state.

Within five miles of Stevenson a man planted his garden a year ago in a fertile little area, just below the house. Last spring he planted in the same spot which nature has elevated to a position considerably above the house, rancher pumps his water from a lake into a tank and carries it from the tank to the house in buried pipes. Several times he has had to remove joints from the pipe to counteract the contortions of the earth on his farm.

Just below the house ran a beautiful little creek a few months ago, along the bank above running the county road. Now the creek is running along the road and the old creek bed is elevated according to the story.

A lake that used to be in a certain corner of the field is now removed to another quarter, while the old lake bottom is transformed into a little hillock. In the center of the little lake in another portion of the area an island has appeared within the past few months. An acreage owner started to clear his land, but by the time he had it half cleared a hillock had arisen beside it and tumbled off over it and the rest of the nearby land, making former clearing waste labor and removing the necessity of clearing any more.

The trees of the area have become all tangled up among themselves, their bases having shifted their positions so frequently and at such variance of angle. Depressions have caused trees to be rent asunder, while cliffs and great boulders have been split. Small crevasses are to be found. Numerous little mounds and hills are present where within a short time before were level stretches or even depressions. By actual measurements and calculations a nearby mountain had an elevation of 2,100 feet two years ago, but today is between 1,600 and 1,600 feet above the sea level.

"This is no legend," said Forester Ferris, in speaking of the matter. "All these things I tell you about have occurred within two years. Those people there have seen it all."

Mr. Ferris recalls the famous Washington legend of the "Bridge of the Gods," with its setting almost at this very point on the Columbia river, which is right at the Cascade locks. The Bridge of the Gods was thought to be a natural bridge spanning the old Oregon, as the Columbia was formerly called, until, after the passage of the ages, it collapsed, the debris forming the great rapids requiring the locks for passage of vessels. Forester Ferris wonders if there is not a great subterranean lake beneath the ever-shifting area, and thinks it possible that the sinking of the mountain has exerted a pressure that causes the fluctuations of the surface about the base. The shifting surface is comparatively level, he says, and the phenomena cannot be explained on the basis of slides.

HOW TO CURE SICK HEADACHE.

DREAMS IDENTIFY SUICIDE.

Sisters Have Visions of Brother Being Dead and Find Body.

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 26.—Because of the simultaneous dreams of his two sisters, who could not rest as a result of his disappearance, the body of the suicide found near Laury's on August 10 has been identified as that of Francis Waltz, of Slatington, 35 years old. He was a single man, employed as a slate worker, and boarded with a sister, Mrs. Flanna Rinker. Ten days before the body was found he left her home, saying he was dissatisfied with it and would seek another. The sister became very much worried about her brother's whereabouts and, on comparing notes with another sister, Mrs. Maggie Scheller, of Best, it was found both had dreamed that he was a suicide by shooting and was lying in an uncomfortable grave.

They became so worried that they inquired into the Laury's suicide and on visiting the county home, where the body had been interred in the potter's field, discovered that the clothing was that of their brother.

WOMAN PREVENTS A SUICIDE.

Grabs Victim by Feet and Waits Until Help Arrives.

New York, Sept. 26.—In an attempt to commit suicide Rosa Disisci, a maid, hung suspended head down for ten minutes from the fourth story window of a uptown apartment house. That her attempt was not successful is due to the efforts of her mistress, Mrs. Sigmund Straus, who rushed to the window and seized the girl's feet just as they were going over the sill. The cries of the woman attracted a large crowd and, just as Mrs. Straus was about to lose her hold, three men relieved her and the services of firemen which had been requisitioned were not needed.

$16,000 FOUND ON DEAD MAN.

Owner of Hotel Drowned in Thames Has Check for Pile.

London, Sept. 26.—A check for $16,000 and a large number of share certificates were stated at a Batterseat inquest to have been found on the body of Arthur Taverner, part proprietor and manager of the Falcon hotel, Clapham Junction, who was found drowned in the Thames near Battersea. A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned.

SAYS JANITORS ARE BETTER PAID

Poverty Stricken Professor Quits His Place After Years of Study.

SEEKS LIVING WAGE

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 26.—Unable to make both ends meet on a salary of $900 a year paid him by the University of California, Paul Boehncke, professor of German, has quit. Boehncke is a graduate and M. A. of Stanford university and has been assistant instructor in the University of California for three years. He has a wife and two children.

He says that his meager salary of $75 a month has not been sufficient to keep himself and family from absolute want. He has been struggling along doing from twelve to fourteen hours work a day and has steadily gotten deeper in debt until now he can't possibly devote his time any longer to the work for which he has spent years in preparation.

For the past few summers the instructor has managed to live by toiling as a plasterer, earning from $5 to $7 a day, or nearly double what the college paid him.

"In refusing to work longer for $75 a month I am not showing any malice or ill will. I am only doing what circumstances demand.

"I venture to say that janitors and caretakers on the campus are better paid proportionately than are the instructors who spend years in hard study and thousands of dollars in preparing for their positions."

Boehncke's experience is not unique. All the younger members of the faculty are being paid ridiculously inadequate salaries. Several assistants in the French and English departments have been driven out in the last few years for this reason.

This policy, it is said, is reflecting on the whole university. Only rich young men can take positions under this system. This, it is claimed, tends to create an "aristocratic tone" to a perfectly good college.

The salary for assistants range from $600 to $1,000 a year, but the average is $930 per annum.

FOOTPADS TAKE ALL HIS GOLD.

Worker Who Had Accumulated $6,000 in Alaskan Fishery Robbed.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Henry Lorenson accumulated $6,000 by months of labor in the Alaskan fishery. Within an hour after he left the vessel that brought him to this port with his money sewed in a belt around his body he was found half conscious and penniless on a waterfront sidewalk, where three footpads had left him after taking his money and administering a beating.

Boils Are a Bad Indication

No Time Should be Lost in Purifying Your Blood.

Many people believe boils are a sign of health. It is a sign of sick blood. It is an indication that the circulation is sluggish or loaded with acids and impurities to cause breaking down of the tissues.

At the first appearance of pimples and boils the blood should be given a good searching internal bath with S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier known to man.

This remarkable remedy has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In a few minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder, to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the skin that cause boils and other skin eruptions.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are observed. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health. That strange moody, morbid feeling of depression is lifted and the entire system responds with surprising energy.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. Beware of any effort to sell you something claimed to be "just as good." If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to the Swift Specific Co., 212 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

THE HONEYMOON SHIP OF MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER AND BELLBOY HITS ROCKS.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Because the stipend for "hoppin' bells" is not divisible by very many pairs of silk stockings, Viola Barbara Lux Putnam, granddaughter of Henry Lux, former multi-millionaire cattle baron, once a partner of Henry Miller, cattle king of the west, who owns millions of acres of land, will soon be a "grass" widow.

"He couldn't provide for me, that's all there is to it," said Mrs. Putnam, who is suing her husband, a former bell hop, for divorce on the ground of non-support, and asking that she be allowed to assume her maiden name. While a student at a convent in San Jose, Cal.,

VIOLA BARBARA LUX PUTNAM.

Mrs. Putnam, 17, met Hubert L. Putnam, 18-year-old bellboy. After a whirlwind courtship they eloped. This was last January. Following the marriage there was the usual family row, then forgiveness, and the couple came here to live.

"Of course we had different stations," said Mrs. Putnam, perched on a divan with a pedigreed bull pup, "and it couldn't last. Isn't he the cutest little dear—Willie, you stop biting me—his mother just died."

"Whose—your husband's?"

"Oh, mercy, no! Willie's—Willie Ritchie's—that's the puppy's name. My husband is somewhere in town—I think I'll have his ears slit; it counts more at the dog show.

"No—no, not my husband's—the dog's! Well, that's all there is to it. Good-by."

Mrs. Putnam doesn't seem at all sorrowful over the wreck of their matrimonial ship.

The Chinese have innumerable uses for empty tin cans, fashioning them into many and various household utensils.

HOUSES AND ROOMS FOR RENT

MANY people have room they could just as well rent as to allow to remain empty. They are rooms which the family seldom or ever uses but are kept furnished at more or less expense and which produce no revenue. Why not rent them and get the money? Others have houses which sometimes remain vacant for months because they do not let it become generally known that the houses are for rent. At this season of year, when people are returning from vacations, and new people are coming to town, is an especially good time to make public the fact that these rooms or houses are for rent. How shall people be informed that these houses and rooms can be rented? It is very simple and very inexpensive. Use the classified advertising columns of The Sentinel. CALL UP 'PHONE 173.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Sept. 26—Wheat rose today, influenced by a fall in British consols. Prices started ¼c off to ⅜@½c up, reacted a little and then mounted above the opening level.

The close was nervous at last night's level to ¼c higher.

Increased offerings from the country weakened corn, but the market later advanced with wheat. Opening quotations were unchanged to ⅛c lower. The rally carried prices well above last night's close.

The close was weak, ⅜c to 1⅛c under last night.

Oats followed corn. Several large concerns were fair buyers on the upturn.

Provisions rose on account of an advance at the wards. First sales ranged from a loss of a shade to 5c to 7½c gain, the market later holding around the upper figure.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 26.—First prices of stocks today were mixed, with about an equal number of fractional gains and losses. Union Pacific and Reading responded to free buying orders with moderate advances. Amalgamated, Can and Southern Pacific were heavy. Steel opened fractionally lower, but made up its loss on the first few transactions.

The morning trading revealed no definite trend and the only governing factor seemed to be the monetary whim of the professional element. Although there was no heavy liquidation in any quarter, buying was restricted correspondingly. Outside business was unusually small and the limited demand which existed arose principally from the retirement of short contracts. Bonds were firm.

The market closed steady. Late selling about wiped out the small advances in the general run of stocks. Reading and Union Pacific were affected most by speculative selling, the last named sagging more swiftly after the unfavorable August earnings were published. Some stocks were bid up again later, which imparted an improved tone to final dealings.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 26.—Money on call steady, 2¾@3 per cent.; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing, 2¾@3 per cent.; time loans, weaker; 60 days, 4¼@4¼ per cent.; 90 days, 4¼@4¾ per cent.; six months, 5¼@5 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 5¾@6 per cent.; sterling exchange easier, 481.80 for 60 days and 485.55 for demand; commercial bills, 481@481¾; bar silver, 61¾c; Mexican dollars, 47c; government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, firm.

JOINS "ALIMONY CLUB."

Chicago Concertmaster Is Locked Up in New York Jail.

New York, Sept. 26.—Gregor H. Sholnik, concertmaster of the Chicago Opera company, has become a member of the "Alimony club" in Ludlow street jail. He was arrested yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Clara Sholnik for a separation and was locked up in default of $2,500.

Mrs. Sholnik said the violinist was about to go to Chicago for a seventeen weeks' engagement and that unless he was compelled to give security he would remain away and avoid paying alimony. Sholnik took his violin to jail with him and last night regaled the inmates with selections from the classics.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Samuel Leslie Steffy, of Winamac, is Arrested at Knox.

Winamac, Ind., Sept. 26.—Samuel Steffy, indicted here yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of murdering Pearl Hettinger, was arrested at Knox, Ind., during the afternoon. The crime alleged in the indictment was committed at the farm of the girl's father, near here, a year ago.

Pearl Hettinger died from the effects of a rifle wound. She and Steffy were in a room when she was shot and Steffy declared that the rifle, which was standing in a corner, fell to the floor and was discharged. According to the charges filed against Steffy he was engaged to Pearl and later was found to have a wife and children.

MORE FROST IS COMING.

Rain of Today to Be Followed by Colder Weather, Says Palmer.

All those who allowed their furnace fires to die out during the last two days of moderate temperatures will be compelled to build them up again, according to Weather Forecaster W. S. Palmer, as cooler weather is headed toward Fort Wayne and a heavy frost is predicted for tonight, if the skies become clear.

The fire department was called to the corner of Old Fort and Columbia avenue at 11 o'clock Thursday evening, where a rubbish pile caught fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished and no damage is reported.

TRIED TO EAT UP JAIL LAWN GRASS

Wild Man Was Restrained from Swallowing the Pebbles.

HE UTTERS NO WORDS

San Rafael, Ga., Sept. 26.—Deputy Sheriff Jack Donahue has a "wild man" in custody. He was captured near Camp Taylor. Not a word has the prisoner spoken; not a question has he answered with the exception of one, and that was when asked to write his name he scribbled the words "Ani Bey" on a bit of paper. It is thought that these words may be a corruption of the name "Anthony Benko," found on a card when the man's cabin was searched.

"The unknown's" first attempt at escape was made when newspaper photographers posed him outside the county jail for a picture. He stared wildly at the cameras and then broke away from Donahue and dashed toward the hillside. He was captured after a short sprint, but protested violently by signs alone against being returned to his cell.

Soon after his attempt at escape he made signs indicating that the wished to sit down on the court house lawn. He was allowed to do so, when he immediately began tearing up grass and dandelions by the roots and eating them. He was allowed to do this, but when he attempted to swallow several small pebbles he was restrained.

Dr. Juser, county physician, and Dr. Stone made a close examination of the prisoner and they agreed that he was sane, but neither could account for his evident lapse of memory and his reversion to mankind's instincts.

In the hermit's hut, south of Camp Taylor, officers even found a stock certificate of an old mining company issued on March 14, 1863, to "F. Hirth." They also found a wallet containing on which was written the name "Anthony Benko."

No steps toward disposing of "the unknown" have been taken as yet, nor will they be until after further inquiry has been made of his strange case.

Former United States District Attorney John L. McNab, as attorney for the estate on which the hermit made his home, filed the complaint on which the "wild man" was taken into custody.
